A GREAT MOB SWARMS HALL

Convention Place Is Packed to Danger Point.

CHEERS FOR CLARK START THE DOINGS

After Parker Raps for Order at 12:45 Today.

So Thronged Is Convention Hall at Opening That It Is Declared To Be Beyond Limit of Safety—Speakers of Day Have Hard Time Getting Attention—Candidates Are Applauded.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—The Democratic steam roller stubbed its fender, this afternoon, when the convention voted down the majority report of the committee on credentials, and seated the Wilson delegates from South Dakota. The minority report was adopted by a vote of 639½ to 437; not voting, 5½.

It took the convention two hours and fifteen minutes to receive the report, hear the debate upon it, call the roll and reach a decision. The proceedings were interrupted for a twenty-one-minute round of cheering and shouting for the various candidates The roll call was accomplished amid confusion that made it almost impossible for the tellers to keep track of the vote.

Is Called to Order.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—Chairman Parker called the Democratic national convention to order at 12 45 o'clock this afternoon

The delegates will please take their seats The sergeants-at-arms will clear the aisles," said the chairman

Chairman Parker introduced' Rev. Adolph Guttmacher, of Madison Avenue temple, who delivered the invocation He said in the course of his prayer

Inspire us with love and devotion so we may fulfill with one heart and one mind the hopes of those who place that trust in us. Guide us in the way of peace and unity and loyalty

May they administer Thy trust in the fear of God and with true hearts. May this nation lead all others, not through strength of arms, but through justice

'All government must be moral in its aim and end and nothing that is morally wrong can be legally right.

Strengthen all who are gathered in this convention in the endeavor to represent the will of the people"

Mrs. Taft Present.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—The Democratic national convention was watched today by the "First Lady of the Land." Mrs. Taft wife of the president, came over from Washington and was an early arrival in the gallery near the speaker's platform She saw an animated scene, for spurred by the promise of lively action, the early crowd took a good start with the result that a lively, interesting throng was on hand an hour sooner than had been the case yesterday. For them the first center of attraction was Mrs Taft She arrived with Mrs Norman E Mack, three-quarters of an hour before the convention met Mrs Taft was dressed in a purple dress, trimmed with white, and displayed a purple hat trimmed with black velvet

Mrs Taft's seat was in the front row of the guests' gallery to the left of the chairman's stand and immediately overlooking the west section of the press gallery She had read in its every detail of the story of the Chicago convention where her husband was renominated, and she was deeply interested in the work of the opposing convention.

Today was the first time in the history of the country, so far as the oldest convention veterans could recall that the wife of a president had attended a convention which was to nominate the man who would oppose her husband for re-election.

Crowd Greets Her.

With Mrs Taft were, besides Mrs. Mack, Mr and Mrs. Hugh C. Wallace, Mrs Francis, of Washington, and Miss Aubray, secretary to Mrs. Taft

Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Wendell of Illinois, was assigned to take charge of the party and he remained constantly near the little group that soon became the center of attraction Mrs. Taft arrived over the Pennsylvania railroad at 11 10 a m She was accompanied by Mrs Wallace on the train. A large crowd had gathered at the station to greet her. She entered a waiting automobile and came direct to the convention hall

Mrs Taft scanned the hall with a pair of opera glasses and occasionally ceased her survey to make a

OLLIE JAMES IS SELECTED

As Permanent Chairman of the Convention.

KENTUCKIAN MAKES HIT WITH SPEECH

He Is Cheered When He Refers to Bryan.

After Much Confusion, Seating of Wilson Delegates from South Dakota, Excluding of Those from Philippines and James' Speech, Adjournment Is Taken Until 8 O'Clock Tonight.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—The Democratic national convention adjourned at 3:48 p. m. until 8 o'clock tonight to name a candidate for president. The motion was made after a day taken up with a fight over the report of the credentials committee.

The only fight taken to the floor was won by the Wilson faction.

Ollie James was elected permanent chairman and delivered a second keynote speech. It was immediately after he had concluded that the adjournment was taken.

Much Confusion.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—After over two hours of utter confusion, the sergeant-at-arms being unable to restore order, the Democratic convention again resumed normal conditions when the vote on the seating of the Wilson delegates from South Dakota was announced,

The result was a brand new test of convention strength. When 639½ ayes and 437 noes were announced, there was much surprise. John Sharp Williams made the point of order that the Philippines not being a part of the United States had no right to take part in a convention to name a president of the United States

A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, flashed a point of order on Williams, that he had raised his point too late Judge Parker ruled for Williams.

The minority report was adopted without the Philippines and the latter question was taken up separately.

The delegates from the Philippines were excluded from seats on a division of the delegates.

James Is Named.

There came three cheers and applause for Ollie James when he was named by the committee on permanent organization as permanent chairman. E. D. Britton was named for secretary. The present subordinates were reported for retention. H. H Dean, who submitted the report, moved its adoption and the action was taken unanimously.

Among the prominent Democrats held outside the hall by the order closing the doors were William Randolph Hearst and J. K. Vardaman, of Mississippi. Both Hearst and Vardaman made an indignant protest against the order. They were joined by other excluded Democrats, and the crowd in front of the hall soon grew to large proportions.

Senator Bankhead, Congressman Hughes, of New Jersey, Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, were named to escort James to the chair.

When James reached the stand Judge Parker said to the delegates:

"I want to thank you for your courtesy, your patience and your kindness during the hours that I have presided over this convention, and I enjoy the greatest privilege that has come to me during the period I have presided, and that is of introducing one of the distinguished leaders of the democracy, the Hon. Ollie James, of Kentucky

A final correction in the jumbled-up roll call was read when the Philippine islands vote was excluded leaving the ayes 633½; the six ayes of the Philippines being subtracted.

As Mr. James attacked the president for his tariff veto, Mrs. Taft snappily exchanged comments with her neighbors Her displeasure was evident.

Mr. James provoked a Bryan demonstration when he referred to "a voice that cried out in the wilderness sixteen years ago," and paid the most glowing tribute to Bryan.

James finished at 3.40 p. m.

A Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, moved the convention adjourn until 8 o'clock this evening. As he made the motion, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, appeared in the hall and was conducted to the platform.

The motion to adjourn was carried at 3:48 p. m.

BRYAN'S PLANKS ARE APPROVED

Platform To Be Adopted Will Be Progressive.

NEBRASKAN MEETS LITTLE OPPOSITION

Platform Is for the Party, Not for Candidate.

In All the Throng of Delegates, but One Dissenting Voice Is Heard in Opposition to Bryan's Suggestion About Framing and Making the Platform—More Planks Are Yet To Be Added.

Baltimore, June 27.—Members of the resolutions committee of the Democratic national convention, who would consent to talk, declared today that the platform adopted will be progressive. A conflict is expected, however, over seven planks as drawn up by William Jennings Bryan. His friends are confident, and declare the platform will be built along lines in keeping with progress and nailed down with advanced ideas from Mr. Bryan. He has met little opposition to date in dominating the resolutions committee and the sub-committee of eleven which is actually drafting the platform. Here are some of the Bryan planks:

Legislation for supervision and control of banks, which will absolutely assure the people when they deposit money they can get it back.

Legislation for the protection of the laboring man against injustice under injunctions; trial by jury in contempt cases.

A real anti-trust law enforcement.

Legislation to protect the laboring man against the Sherman anti-trust law.

Revision of the tariff for revenue only.

Absolute opposition to the Aldrich banking and currency bill.

Direct election of United States senators by the people.

Getting Under Way.

When the platform sub-committee of eleven went to work again today it was expected that the platform would be pretty well under way by the late afternoon and completed by night, so that it can be reported to the convention immediately upon the nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Mr Bryan's move to build a platform for the party and not for the candidate met with enthusiastic approbation at the hands of the delegates at last night's session. The report of the rules committee recommended the unprecedented change, and by viva voce vote it was adopted. In all the throng of delegates, but one voice was heard in dissent.

At the reconvening of the sub-committee today it was found that most of the chaff had been cleared away in the long night's session of last evening. When Chairman John W. Kern called the committee to order the actual work of selecting the planks was begun. In addition to the great pile of planks from outsiders, almost every member of the sub-committee had planks to offer.

New York's Platform.

Senator James A. O'Gorman, of New York, had a complete platform from his delegation which is at least semi-progressive. There were ideas in this not approved by Mr. Bryan. One of these was the recommendation for flexible banking legislation.

Mr. Bryan's ideas for banking legislation look far into the future for the protection of the depositor. Former Congressman Fithian, of Illinois, had a plank looking toward a deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf

Senator Rayner, of Maryland, had a complete platform from tariff reform and strong trust planks down to a recommendation against a president serving more than one term A plank may be inserted calling for a constitutional amendment making a president ineligible for reelection. The California delegation has insisted, and it may succeed in getting the Democratic convention to endorse the designation of San Francisco as the most suitable place for the Panama exhibition.

Bryan's Opportunity.

It developed that Mr. Bryan had been assigned the two most important planks in the proposed platform. These were the plank on tariff and that on currency. This gave Mr. Bryan an opportunity to express himself on the question of the Wall street control of the money market. Senator O'Gorman and Committeeman Pomerene assisted him. The latter also handed in a plank on the Mississippi river and the deep waterway question.

There were other less important

PLANKS ARE UP TO THE MINUTE

On All the Big Questions of the Day.

ARE AIMED TO WIN POPULAR SUFFRAGE

Tariff and Money Planks Are Features.

The Money Plank Insures Protection to the 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 Bank Depositors, and Prevents Any Group of Financiers from Controlling Banks and Money of Country—Other Planks.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—Although the final draft of the Democratic platform is not yet drawn, the National News association today learned what its principal planks will be.

They are up to the last hour on all big questions and are calculated to win the popular suffrage. Progressive ideas predominate.

The most important feature of the platform will be the planks on tariff and money. Mr Bryan wrote both these planks. The tariff plank declares for an immediate downward revision of present high protective tariff, especially upon the necessities of life, and the removal of duty on those commodities which are controlled by trusts and sold cheaper abroad than at home. It also declares that the federal government has no right to impose tariff except for the purpose of revenue, and that the collection should be limited to the necessities of the government when honestly administered. In this same conclusion the present administration and Payne-Aldrich bill will be severely arraigned.

On Banking Matters.

The plank referring to the financial and banking system contains an arraignment of Wall street manipulation and of the national banking regulations Mr. Bryan wrote his pet ideas for the adoption of legislation, which shall insure protection for the 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 bank depositors; it will oppose the establishment of a central bank, but will provide for a revision of the banking laws which will not only insure protection, but prevent any small group of financiers or politicians from controlling the banks and the money of the country.

There will be a plank devoted to the election of senators by a direct vote of the people and declaring for a direct primary law which will do away with the political boss and boss-ridden conventions. There will also be a recommendation for a constitutional amendment making presidents ineligible, for reelection and fixing the term of office at six years.

Merchant Marine.

The merchant marine proposition will be taken up and a declaration made for the development and strengthening of the commercial ties which bind us to the republics of the south without additional burden on the people or subsidies from the treasury A private monopoly will be termed indefensible and intollerable. Legislation will be recommended for the criminal and civil punishment of trust magnates

A law is also recommended against duplicating directors among competing corporations A federal license law for corporations to prevent watered stock and control of any one commodity is also expected as a plank. There is to be a comprehensive plank on interstate commerce, urging more strength for the present laws governing railroads.

There will be reiteration of the 1908 plank favoring the protection of the laboring man from injunctions Other planks will favor change in the civil service laws and granting of pensions; a national health board; great lakes-to-gulf-deep-waterway; improvement in the employers' liability laws; strengthening of the navy, post roads and commendation of the Democratic house of representatives for its record of achievements

No Formal Session.

Most of the members of the sub-committee appeared at the room, but no formal session was held. The plan to leave the draft to Mr. Bryan and Mr. O'Gorman was informally discussed J. K. Vardaman, of Mississippi, declared the new plan of a platform would be drawn up on the hurry.

"I believe that this committee will present a platform to the convention declaring unequivocally for tariff for revenue only," said Governor Vardaman. "There will, I believe, be no quibbing about it."

Senator Kearn appeared at the committee room about noon. He had a short conference with Mr. Bryan, but shortly afterward went to the floor of the convention. He declared that under the new plank the platform would be drawn up quickly.

FEDERATION IS GIVEN A SHOCK

By One of Its Own Women Members.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR GIRLS IS DISCUSSED

And Facts and Truth-Surprise Federation.

Body of Women's Clubs Declares Girl Can Not Live on Less Than Nine Dollars a Week, and Is Given Setback When Secretary Announces Federation Pays Young Women Only One Dollar a Day.

San Francisco, June 27.—Delegates here in attendance upon the eleventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs are still busy deciding what candidates they will support for the various offices No new candidates have come forward for the presidency, and the field is still occupied by Mrs. Philip N. Carpenter, of New York, and Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, of Texas.

A prominent candidate for first vice president is Mrs. S B. Sneath, of Ohio Mrs. L L Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, is in the race for second vice president. She is the wife of the reform mayor of the Quaker City.

Mrs. Owen Wister, wife of the novelist, is a strong champion of her cause. Miss Georgia Bacon is being urged for the same office by the Massachusetts delegation.

Mrs. Eugene Reilley, of North Carolina, has many friends, who want to make her corresponding secretary, while the Nebraska delegation supports Mrs. Henry Keefe for the office of recording secretary. Illinois delegates are pulling every wire possible to land the next convention for Chicago.

As a result of investigations conducted under the authority of the women's federated clubs, it was shown that a girl can not live on less than nine dollars per week. It was a distinct shock to the delegates today when Mrs. Mary J. Wood, chairman of the bureau of information, disclosed the fact that girls were employed by the federation itself at a wage of one dollar per day.

FINAL TOUCHES TO PLATFORM

Are Applied by Bryan and O'Gorman.

POMERENE AIDS IN THE FINAL DRAFT

Senator Rayner Praises the Planks.

The Platform Is Progressive, but It Is Not Extreme or Anything To Be Afraid of, but Good, Strong Document Drafted Without Friction, and I Expect None, Says the Senator Regarding It.

Baltimore, June 27.—The work of drafting the platform for the Democratic national convention was completed at 2:30 this afternoon.

The final touches were applied by W. J. Bryan and Senator O'Gorman, assisted by Senator Pomerene and Secretary Walsh, of the committee.

When the four men ended their task they were immediately whisked away in an automobile to the Maryland club.

Mr. Bryan stated to a representative of the National News association that they had finished their work on the platform with two possible exceptions, and were ready to present the result to the sub-committee of eleven which will meet at 4 o'clock. He stated further that he thought they had framed a platform that would be acceptable to all members of the committee and would be adopted without any changes.

Praises Its Planks.

It was believed by some that one of the two planks referred to by Mr. Bryan as incomplete was that on the initiative, referendum and recall. A battle may be expected if this is included.

"The platform is progressive," said Senator Rayner, of Maryland, after he had read the rough draft. "It is not extreme or anything to be afraid of, but a good strong progressive platform and I like it. It was drafted without any friction and I look for none.

"There is a declaration for direct election of United States senators, tariff reformation and new laws governing our currency system. The tariff plank will be the main point of the entire platform and is of vast importance."

Senator Rayner is one of the sub-committee of eleven which will pass on the platform before it is submitted to the committee of the whole this evening.

ROMANCE OF THE AIR ENDS IN A WEDDING

Claude Grahame-White Marries New York Girl.

London, June 27.—A romance of the air resulted today, in the marriage of Miss Dorothy Taylor, of New York and Claude Grahame-White, the famous English aviator, who won the international trophy for England in 1910, at Widford Church in Chelmsford, Essex. Mr. Grahame-White had planned to fly from London to Chelmsford with his fiance, but bad weather pervented, so they had to make the trip by automobile. However, a number of guests, fellow-aviator guests, flew to the church today. At frequent intervals the whirr of motors was heard, and an aeroplane came to earth in the churchyard before the quaint and ancient little edifice.

Montague Grahame-White, brother of the groom, was best man and Miss Mary Bovee was the bridesmaid. Miss Taylor wore a gown of draped white satin trimmed with venetian lace. It had a court train of silver brocade.

After the ceremony the couple left for a long yacht cruise.

Miss Taylor, who is the daughter of Mrs. Leroy Taylor, of New York, had read of Grahame-White's exploits in the air long before she met him. When they finally were introduced on the steamship, Olympic, last December, a wish which Miss Taylor had long secretly cherished in her heart was fulfilled. It was a mutual case of love at first sight.

PARTY SIGNS UP ITS OLD TEAM

Taft and Sherman Again Head National Ticket.

THE CONVENTION ENDS IN TUMULT

Much Noise Is Heard Around Coliseum.

Soon After President Taft Is Renominated, James S. Sherman Is Presented and Is Renominated. His Vote Being 597—Roosevelt Men Sit in Silence, Refusing To Vote—How Convention Ends.

For President,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT
of Ohio.
For Vice President,
JAMES SCHOOLCRAFT SHERMAN
of New York.

Chicago, June 24.—William Howard Taft, president of the United States, was given a renomination at the hands of the fifteenth Republican national convention, receiving 561 of the 1,078 votes in the convention, or 21 more than a majority. James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president, was also renominated, his vote being 597. The Roosevelt delegates, nearly 350 in number, did not bolt the convention, but within a few minutes after adjournment hastened to another hall and tendered to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt the nomination for president on the ticket of a new party to be launched in the immediate future.

The decision of the Roosevelt people, under the direction of their leader, to refrain from voting, let no other candidate near the president. The announcement of the Taft victory was greeted with cheering from his adherents and groans and hisses from the opposition.

When it became absolutely certain that Mr. Taft would be nominated without great difficulty, the leaders in control of the convention decided to give him as a running mate his companion on the ticket in 1908.

Others Drop Out.

All others dropped from the race and Mr. Sherman was the only candidate regularly placed before the convention. A motion from New Hampshire to make the nomination by acclamation was declared out of order. There were many scattering votes on the rollcall that ensued.

At no time was there an indication of a walkout of Roosevelt delegates. They expressed their revolt by silence.

In the confusion just before adjournment a resolution was adopted giving the national committee power to declare vacant the seat of any man on the committee refusing to support the nominees of the regular convention of 1912

After the work of settling all contests had been completed, the convention took up the report of the committee on permanent organization. It recommended that the temporary organization be made permanent.

Senator Root yielded the gavel to Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania while the motion was put. When it carried he was given a big cheer.

There were cries of "Speech, speech," and Senator Root stepped forward It had taken nearly five days for the committee to get to its permanent organization, an unprecedented state of affairs

The demonstration continued several minutes.

"I thank you, my friends from the bottom of my heart. My first act as permanent chairman of this convention is to ask unanimous consent that a delegate from the state of Kansas—our Republican brother—Henry J. Allen, be permitted to make a statement. Is there objection? The chair hears none."

Mr. Allen then came forward to read the Roosevelt statement and to pronounce "The Roosevelt Valedictory."

Repudiates Convention.

Mr. Allen's speech was a declaration that the Roosevelt people repudiated this convention and its work, and, without a physical bolt, appealed to the people. He read Colonel Roosevelt's statement to the above effect.

Allen's first mention of Roosevelt's name started a tremendous cheering, in which all the Roosevelt delegations participated, with scores of people in the galleries. The Taft delegations sat still watching the demonstration but taking no part in it. There were large sections of the gallery, too, where the people were sitting motionless.

The demonstration lasted several minutes, Mr. Root standing smiling, waiting for the noise to subside Allen said the steam roller had exceeded the speed limit in the California case. "Since then," said he, "we have asked for no rollcall." The Roosevelt men, he said, declined to share the responsibility of a convention which yet had ignored popular majorities against Taft in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, New Jersey, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Maryland, Nebraska, Oregon, Kansas, Oklahoma, West Virginia, North Carolina.

Allen declared that Roosevelt upon his retirement from the White House left an overwhelming Republican majority, a record on which Taft was elected, and a progressive platform.

He pointed to the Democratic gains made since

"We will not participate with you in scuttling the ship," said Mr Allen. "We do not bolt. We have fought you here for five days for a square deal. We shall sit in protest and the people who sent us here shall judge us."

Allen's remarks, especially his reading of the Roosevelt statement, were constantly interrupted by cheers, hisses and other noises.

The proceedings were moving along rapidly now, and former Vice President Fairbanks, chairman of the resolutions committee, was introduced to read the platform. He was greeted with applause.

As Fairbanks read the statement original with Lincoln on government "of, for and by the people," he was greeted by groans and laughter.

Delegate Walter C Owen of Wisconsin was recognized to present the LaFollette platform, offered as a complete substitute The North Dakota delegates joined with Wisconsin in urging the LaFollette ideas.

There was much disorder during the reading of the LaFollette platform and few heard it.

Fairbanks moved to table the minority report.

There was no Roosevelt draft The LaFollette report was tabled. Only Wisconsin voted no.

The vote on the platform as read by Mr. Fairbanks resulted as follows: Ayes, 666; nays, 55; not voting, 343; absent, 16.

The name of Pesident Taft was presented to the convention by Warren G. Harding, former lieutenant governor of Ohio, who was interrupted by frequent demonstrations in favor of the president. Seconding speeches were made by John Wanamaker of Philadelphia and Nicholas Murray Butler of New York.

Senator LaFollette's name was presented by Michael B. Olbrich of Madison, Wis., and was seconded by Robert M. Pollock of North Dakota.

The Party Platform.

Following is the platform in full adopted by the Republican national convention:

The Republican party, assembled by its representatives in national convention, declares its unchanging faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people. We renew our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party and our devotion to the cause of republican institutions established by the fathers.

It is appropriate that we should now recall with a sense of veneration and gratitude the name of our first great leader, who was nominated in this city, and whose lofty principles and superb devotion to his country are an inspiration to the party he honored—Abraham Lincoln. In the present state of public affairs we should be inspired by his broad statesmanship and by his tolerant spirit toward men.

The Republican party looks back upon its record with pride and satisfaction, and forward to its new responsibilities with hope and confidence. Its achievements in government constitute the most luminous pages in our history Our greatest national advance has been made during the years of its ascendancy in public affairs It has been genuinely and always a party of progress; it has never been either stationary or reactionary

It has gone from the fulfillment of one great pledge to the fulfillment of another in response to the public need and to the need of popular will

We believe in our self-controlled representative democracy which is a government of laws, not of men, and in which order is the pre-requisite of progress

The principles of constitutional government, which make provision for orderly and effective expression of the popular will for the protection of civil liberty and the rights of men, and for the interpretation of the law by an unhammered and independent judiciary, have proved themselves capable of sustaining the structure of a government which, after more than a century of development, embraces 100,000,000 of people scattered over a wide and diverse territory Tut bound by common purpose, common ideals and common affection to the constitution of the United States Under the constitution and the principles asserted and vitalized by it, the United States has grown to be one of the great civilized and civilizing powers of the earth. It offers a home and an opportunity to the ambitious and the industrious from other lands Resting upon the broad basis of a people's confidence and a people's support and managed by the people themselves the government of the United States will meet the problems of the future as satisfactorily as it has solved those of the past

Ready For New Problems

The Republican party is now as always a party of advanced and constructive statesmanship It is prepared to go forward with the solution of those new questions which social, economic and political development have brought into the forefront of the nation's interest It will strive not only in the nation, but in the several states to enact the necessary legislation to safeguard the public health to limit effectively the labor of women and children, to protect the wage earners engaged in dangerous occupations, to enact comprehensive and generous workmen's compensation laws and in all possible ways to satisfy the just demand of the people for the study and solution of the complex and constantly changing problems of social welfare

In dealing with these questions it is important that the rights of every individual to the freest possible development of his own powers and resources and the control of his own justly acquired property, so far as these are compatible with the rights of others, shall not be interfered with or destroyed

The social and political structure of the United States rests upon the civil liberty of the individual and for the protection of that liberty the people have which in the national and state constitutions, put definite limitations on themselves and their governmental officers and agencies To enforce these limitations to secure the orderly and coherent exercise of governmental powers and to protect the rights of even the humblest and least favored individual are the function of independent courts of justice

The Courts

The Republican party reaffirms its intention to uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts both state and federal and it will ever insist that their powers to enforce their process and to protect life liberty and property shall be preserved inviolate An orderly method is provided under our system of government by which the people may, when they choose, alter or amend the constitutional provisions which underlie that government Until those constitutional provisions are so altered or amended in orderly fashion it is the duty of the courts to see to it that when challenged they are enforced

That the courts, both federal and state, may bear the heavy burden laid upon them to the complete satisfaction of public opinion, we favor legislation to prevent long delays and the tedious and costly appeals of justice in civil cases and to a failure to protect the public at large in criminal cases

Since the responsibility of the judiciary is so great the standard of judicial action must be always and everywhere above suspicion and reproach While we regard the recall of judges as unnecessary and unwise, we favor such action as may be necessary to simplify the process by which any judge who is found to be derelict in his duty may be removed from office

Together with peaceful and orderly development at home, the Republican party earnestly favors all measures for the establishment and protection of the peace of the world, and for the development of closer relations between the various nations of the earth

It believes most earnestly in the peaceful settlement of international disputes, and in the reference of all justiciable controversies between nations to an international court of justice

We ratify in all its particulars the platform of 1908 respecting citizenship for the people of Porto Rico

Monopoly and Privilege.

The Republican party is opposed to special privilege and to monopoly. It placed upon the statute books the interstate commerce act of 1887, and the important amendments thereto, and the anti-trust act of 1890, and it has consistently and successfully enforced the provisions of these laws It will take no backward step to permit the re-establishment in any degree of conditions which were intolerable

Experience makes it plain that the business of the country may be carried on without fear or without disturbance, and at the same time without resort to practices which are abhorrent to the common sense of justice The Republican party favors the enactment of legislation supplementary to the existing anti-trust act which will define as criminal offenses those specific acts that uniformly mark attempts to restrain trade, to the end that those who intend to obey the law may have a guide for their action, and that those who aim to violate the law may the more surely be punished.

The same certainty should be given to the law prohibiting combinations and monopolies that characterize other provisions of commercial law; in order that no part of the field of business opportunity may be restricted by monopoly or combinations, that business success honorably achieved may not be converted into crime and that the right of every man to acquire commodities, and particularly the necessaries of life, in an open market, uninfluenced by the manipulation of trust or combination, may be preserved.

In the enforcement and administration of federal laws governing interstate commerce and enterprises impressed with a public use engaged therein there is much that may be committed to a federal trade commission, thus placing in the hands of an administrative board many of the functions now necessarily exercised by the courts This will promote promptness in the administration of the law and avoid delays and technicalities incident to court procedure.

The Tariff.

We reaffirm our belief in a protective tariff. The Republican tariff policy has been of the greatest benefit to the country, developing our resources, diversifying our industries and protecting our workmen against competition with cheaper labor abroad, thus establishing for our wage earners the American standard of living The protective tariff is so woven into the fabric of our industrial and agricultural life that to substitute for it a tariff for revenue only would destroy many industries and throw millions of our people out of employment The products of the farm and of the mine should receive the same measure of protection as other products of American labor

We hold that the import duties should be high enough, while yielding a sufficient revenue to protect adequately American industries and wages Some of the existing import duties are too high and should be reduced Readjustments should be made from time to time to conform to changing conditions and to reduce excessive rates, but without injury to any American industry To accomplish this correct information is indispensable This information can best be obtained by an expert commission, as the large volume of useful facts contained in the recent reports of the tariff board has demonstrated.

The pronounced feature of modern industrial life is its enormous diversification To apply tariff rates justly to these changing conditions requires closer study and more scientific methods than ever before The Republican party has shown by its creation of a tariff board its recognition of this situation and its determination to be equal to it We condemn the Democratic party for its failure either to provide funds for the continuance of this board or to make some other provision for securing the information requisite for intelligent tariff legislation We protest against the Democratic method of legislation on these vitally important subjects without careful investigation

We condemn the Democratic tariff bills passed by the house of representatives of the Sixty-second congress as sectional, as inimical to the public credit and as destructive of business enterprise.

High Cost of Living.

The steadily increasing cost of living has become a matter not only of national but of world-wide concern The fact that it is not due to the protective tariff system is evidenced by the existence of similar conditions in countries which have a tariff policy different from our own, as well as by the fact that the cost of living has increased while rates of duty have remained stationary or been reduced

The Republican party will support a prompt, scientific inquiry into the causes which are operative, both in the United States and elsewhere, to increase the cost of living When the exact facts are known it will take the necessary steps to remove any abuses that may be found to exist in order that the cost of the food, clothing and shelter of the people may in no way be unduly or artificially increased

The Republican party has always stood for a sound currency and for safe banking methods It is responsible for the resumption of specie payments and for the establishment of the gold standard It is committed to the progressive development of our banking and currency system Our banking arrangements today need further revision to meet the requirements of current conditions We need measures which will prevent the recurrence of money panics and financial disturbances and which will promote the prosperity of business and the welfare of labor by producing constant employment We need better currency facilities for the movement of crops in the west and south We need banking arrangements under American auspices for the encouragement and better conduct of our foreign trade

Bank Protection.

In attaining these ends, the independence of individual banks, whether organized under national or state charters, must be carefully protected and our banking and currency system must be safeguarded from any possibility of domination by sections, financial or political interests

It is of great importance to the social and economic welfare of this country that its farmers have facilities for borrowing easily and cheaply the money they need to increase the productivity of their land It is as important that financial machinery be provided to supply the demand of farmers for credit as it is that the banking and currency systems be reformed in the interest of general business

Therefore we recommend and urge an authoritative investigation of agricultural credit so cities and corporations in other countries and the passage of state and federal laws for the establishment and capable supervision of organizations having for their purpose the loaning of funds to farmers

We reaffirm our adherence to the principle of appointment to public office based on proved fitness and tenure during good behavior and efficiency. The Republican party stands committed to the maintenance, extension and enforcement of the civil service law, and it favors the passage of legislation empowering the president to extend the competitive service so far as practicable.

We favor legislation to make possible the equitable retirement of disabled and superannuated members of the civil service in order that a higher standard of efficiency may be maintained.

We favor the amendment of the federal employes' liability law so as to extend its provision to all government employes, as well as to provide a more liberal scale of compensation for injury and death.

Campaign Contributions.

We favor such additional legislation as may be necessary more effectually to prohibit corporations from contributing funds, directly or indirectly, to campaigns for the nomination and election of the president, the vice president, senators and representatives in congress.

We heartily approve the recent act of congress requiring the fullest publicity in regard to all campaign contributions, whether made in connection with primaries, conventions or elections.

We rejoice in the success of the distinctive Republican policy of the conservation of our natural resources, for their use by the people, without waste and without monopoly. We pledge ourselves to a continuance of such a policy

We favor such fair and reasonable rules and regulations as will not discourage or interfere with actual bona-fide home seekers, prospectors and miners in the acquisition of public lands under existing laws.

Parcels Post.

In the interest of the general public, and particularly of the agricultural and rural communities, we favor legislation looking to the establishment, under proper regulations, of a parcels post, the postal rates to be graduated under a zone system in proportion to the length of carriage.

We approve the action taken by the president and the congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and that will prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens, whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion or previous political allegiance. The right of asylum is a precious possession of the people of the United States, and it is to be neither surrendered nor restricted.

We believe in the maintenance of an adequate navy for the national defense, and we condemn the action of the Democratic house of representatives in refusing to authorize the construction of additional ships.

We believe that one of the country's most urgent needs is a revived merchant marine There should be American ships and plenty of them, to make use of the great American interoceanic canal now nearing completion.

Mississippi Floods.

The Mississippi river is the nation's drainage ditch. Its flood waters, gathered from 31 states and the Dominion of Canada, constitute an overpowering force, which breaks the levees and pours its torrents over many million acres of the richest land in the Union, stopping mails, impeding commerce and causing great loss of life and property.

These floods are national in scope and the disasters they produce seriously affect the general welfare The states, unaided, cannot cope with this giant problem, hence we believe the federal government should assume a fair proportion of the burden of its control so as to prevent the disasters from recurring floods.

We favor the continuance of the policy of the government with regard to the reclamation of arid lands, and for the encouragement of the speedy settlement and improvement of such lands we favor an amendment to the law that will reasonably extend the time within which the cost of any reclamation project may be repaid by the land owners under it

Rivers and Harbors.

We favor a liberal and systematic policy for the improvement of our rivers and harbors Such improvements should be made upon expert information and after a careful comparison of cost and prospective benefits.

We favor a liberal policy toward Alaska to promote the development of the great resources of that district with such safeguards as will prevent waste and monopoly

We favor the opening of the coal lands to development through a law leasing the lands on such terms as will invite development and provide fuel for the navy and the commerce of the Pacific ocean, while retaining title in the United States to prevent any monopoly.

The Philippine policy of the Republican party has been and is inspired by the belief that our duty toward the Filipino people is a national obligation which should remain entirely free from partisan politics

We pledge the Republican party to the enactment of appropriate laws to give relief from the constantly growing evil of induced or undesirable immigration, which is inimical to the progress and welfare of the people of the United States.

Safety at Sea.

We favor the speedy enactment of laws to provide that seamen shall not be compelled to endure involuntary servitude, and that life and property at sea shall be safeguarded by the ample equipment of vessels with life-saving appliances and with full complements of skilled, able-bodied seamen to operate them

The approaching completion of the Panama canal, the establishment of a bureau of mines, the institution of postal savings banks, the increased provision made in 1912 for the aged and infirm soldiers and sailors of the republic and for their widows, and the vigorous administration of the laws relating to pure food and drugs all mark the successful progress of Republican administration, and are additional evidences of its effectiveness

We commend the earnest effort of the Republican administration to secure greater economy and increased efficiency in the conduct of government business; extravagant appropriations and the creation of unnecessary offices are an injustice to the taxpayer and a bad example to the citizen.

Respect For Law.

We call upon the people to quicken their interest in public affairs, to condemn and punish lynchings and other forms of lawlessness and to strengthen in all possible ways a respect for law and and the observance of it Indifferent citizenship is an evil from which the law affords no adequate protection and for which legislation can provide no remedy.

We congratulate the people of Arizona and New Mexico upon the admission of those states, thus merging in the Union in final and enduring form the last remaining portion of our continental territory

We challenge successful criticism of the 16 years of Republican administration under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft We heartily reaffirm the indorsement of President McKinley contained in the platform of 1900 and 1904, and that of President Roosevelt contained in the platform of 1904 and 1908.

We invite the intelligent judgment of the American people on the administration of William H. Taft. The country has prospered and been at peace under his presidency. During the years in which he had the co-operation of a Republican congress an unexampled amount of constructive legislation was framed and passed in the interest of the people and in obedience to their wish That legislation is a record on which any administration might appeal with confidence to the favorable judgment of history.

We appeal to the American electorate upon the record of the Republican party, and upon this declaration of its principles and purposes.

We are confident that under the leadership of the candidates here to be nominated our appeal will not be in vain; that the Republican party will meet every just expectation of the people whose servant it is, that under its administration and its laws our nation will continue to advance; that peace and prosperity will abide with the people, and that new glory will be added to the great republic.

LA FOLLETTE ALSO GETS IN THE GAME

Manager Announces Senator Will Lead a New Party.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—That Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, like Colonel Roosevelt, will start a "new party" of his own, with his backers in the Badger state as the backbone, was indicated here in an announcement made by W. L. Houser, campaign manager for the senator. It was made clear that no assistance would be given by Wisconsin's progressives to Colonel Roosevelt.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY IS BORN

Theodore Roosevelt Picked To Lead First Campaign.

ALL THE PLANS ARE NOT YET COMPLETED

Garfield and Johnson Behind the Movement.

Beyond the Fact That Red Bandana Handkerchiefs, the "Badge of the Plain People," Will Be Used as the New Party's Insignia, Little Is Known of Organization's Future Plans—The Situation.

Chicago, June 24. — In the dying hours of the Republican national convention, where he had met defeat, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for president on an independent ticket. The followers of Former President Roosevelt gathered in Orchestra hall, less than a mile from the Coliseum, and pledged their support to the colonel.

In accepting the nomination Colonel Roosevelt appealed to the people of all sections, regardless of party affiliations, to stand with the founders of the new party, one of whose cardinal principles, he said, was "Thou shalt not steal."

Colonel Roosevelt, in accepting the nomination, said he did so on the understanding that he would willingly step aside if it should be the desire of the new party, when organized, to select another standard bearer.

Representatives of 22 states composed the notification committee which informed Colonel Roosevelt of his nomination, and in a sense stood as sponsors for the movement. Ohio was represented on the committee by Arthur L. Garford of Elyria.

The Roosevelt third party men who have remained here to discuss the organization of their movement with Colonel Roosevelt, got to work early. Governor Johnson of California, who, for the present at least, is the colonel's chief lieutenant, was empowered by a mass meeting of delegates and others to appoint a committee of seven, which is to confer with Colonel Roosevelt and prepare a plan and platform to be presented to the bolters' convention. No definite announcement of a plan was made, and the date of the convention is still to be decided. It was rumored that it might be held here in Chicago on Aug. 3, and also that an attempt might be made to call the Roosevelt progressives together at Asbury Park.

The Roosevelt delegates to the number of 200 or 300 and Roosevelt shouters met in the Florentine room of the Congress hotel to inaugurate the formal temporary organization of the new party. Governor Johnson presided at the temporary meeting. At his side were Medill McCormick, James R. Garfield and Senator Clapp of Minnesota. Governor Stubbs of Kansas came in but went out again before the meeting got down to business. Cecil Lyon of Texas had a front seat.

Governor Hiram Johnson announced that the progressives were "to begin on the road that is to lead to political freedom." He said that in the committee to be formed, no attempt would be made at this time to represent each state, but that the time for action had arrived and that they must get down to work.

Then James R. Garfield got up and told the mass meeting that the laws of the different states were at variance so far as the selection of electors was concerned and that while in some states it would be easy to proceed with their campaign, it might be very difficult in others.

"We must lay the foundation with care," he said, "and it is impossible now to outline definitely our plans. I would suggest that we give Governor Johnson the power to select seven men, who, after a conference with Colonel Roosevelt, will be able to present to the convention a plan of action that will make it possible to carry out this great movement."

He put the suggestion in the form of a motion, which was carried, and Governor Johnson, raising his hand for silence, remarked with great solemnity: "Gentlemen, there is the birth of a new party."

Going back to the matter of the organization of the new party, Mr Garfield said that the organization that made the primary fights for the colonel were already in the field and at work at the present moment.

"Are you counting on Ohio?" some one asked.

"You bet your boots we are counting on Ohio," he said.

Edwin Seedhouse, a delegate from Akron, O., broke in to say that Ohio's 34 Roosevelt delegates had already agreed to meet in Columbus before July 2, the date of the state convention, and plan ways and means to perfect their already strong organization.

Up to this point the proceedings had been extremely calm and businesslike, but now the emotional element, which has played so prominent a part in everything pertaining to Colonel Roosevelt since his arrival here, began to assert itself.

Governor Johnson raised his hand again for silence. "I want to speak of that man in there in the other room," he said. "This means more to him than to you or me. There have been times during the strain and stress of the past week when those of us who have been fighting at his side have expressed our indignation in language not fit for publication. But during all that time he has never lost his serenity and he has never lost his fighting spirit. He has the courage to go on, always fighting for the right. For the love of God, gentlemen, can't we have that type of courage?

May Lose a Man.

"We may lose a man here and there—even a governor or two—but what does it matter? I think there are enough of us to go forward.

"We will do our part in the west—there is no doubt of that. You must do your part in the east. The only thing is, do not be afraid. That is the point, be ye not afraid."

Some one jumped up in the back of the room to propose that the new party be named the National Progressive party. Mr. Garfield announced that it was not yet time to consider the details of a name and that and other details must be left to the convention.

Just then Ben Lindsay of Denver, the only Democrat present, got up and said: "Surely there can be no more solemn occasion than the birth of a new party. The name of our Lord has already been used reverently in connection with this meeting. It is being held on the Lord's day, and I think we ought to open it with a prayer"

Governor Johnson asked if anybody would volunteer a prayer. A negro, the Rev. W. H. Mixon of Salina, Ala., arose. He has the peculiar rich voice belonging to the orators of his race. At his suggestion the assemblage followed him in repeating the twenty-third Psalm. Then he prayed. When he had finished up jumped steam-rollered Delegate Houck of Tennessee He said he had not talked before for a week and it was quite apparent that he was boiling over with suppressed indignation. He made a fire-eating speech of the thief and fraud order and declared that Tennessee would go solid for Theodore Roosevelt. While he was talking, Gifford Pinchot, who had stepped out, came in wearing a brilliant red bandana handkerchief tied about his left arm. A man jumped upon a table with a huge armful of red and blue bandanas. "The new Roosevelt and progressive badge," he shouted. "Remember it is the handkerchief of the plain people."

THE NAME OF TAFT IS PRESENTED BY HARDING

To the National Republican Convention Saturday

FOR RENOMINATION FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Holds President a Composite of Virtues of the Illustrious Republicans Who Have Occupied Presidential Chair Before Him, with a Sturdy Manhood All His Own.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 24.—The name of President William Howard Taft was placed in nomination for renomination by Warren G. Harding, delegate-at-large from Ohio. He held that the president was the true progressive of all the candidates, in that he was a progressive by performance, not merely by promise, and held him forth as a composite of the virtues of all his Republican predecessors in office. Mr. Harding said:

Mr. Harding's Speech.

Mr Chairman and Gentlemen of the convention: The first utterance of the first Republican national convention ever assembled, in resolution declared "That the maintenance of the principles promulgated in the Declaration of Independence and embodied in the federal constitution is essential to the preservation of our republican institutions." Fifty-six years have not altered that truth Since that seemingly inspired utterance, reflected in both the name and spirit of the party under whose banners we are met today, Republican statesmen, the Republican party and a Republican nation have written the most glorious half century of progress and accomplishment ever penned of any national life. Glorying in the retrospection, exalted by the contemplation, and exulting in anticipation, this great council of a great party will have met in vain, unless by utterance and by action it consecrates anew that early plight of faith

Heritage To Be Preserved.

The world has not yet seen the perpetuated republic, but ours gives promise, and it has seemed to me that an infinite hand, in the consciousness of divine strength, wrote hope and faith into our new world beginning Through such belief, the highest patriotism re-commits us today to the preservation of the heritage bequeathed through the heroism and sacrifices and wisdom of the fathers

Much of the contention between disputing schools of American politics has related to means of development Until very recently there is never serious question about the wisdom of representative democracy, because surpassing results in human advancement made it unassailable Only once before was the foundation of the nation attacked, and in that crisis we saw the dross in a misdirected and sectional passion for country burned in the crucible of fire and blood, and the real gold turned to shining stars in dear Old Glory again. Since then we have witnessed the complete harmonizing of a greater national spirit and gone steadily forward in the concord of union, to the upbuilding of a truly great nation, until every American purpose is the recognized reflex of advancing civilization.

Not New to Sovereign People.

You have heard much lately about the people's rule. Mr. Chairman and Sirs, the people's rule is no new discovery to a sovereign American people. Nor is demagogic employment of the term new to the world's hearing. Through such demagogic employment, centuries ago, republics tottered and fell, and republican liberties were lost in the sway of empires in their stead. Human rights and their defense are as old as civilization; but, more important to us, the founding American fathers wrote the covenant of a people's rule into the bond of national life, beyond all erasure or abridgement. The American people literally began to rule in 1776, and there has not been and never will be any suspension of that power. They ruled when they assented to Washington's declination of a third term of the presidency, and when, with prophetic foresight, he admonished them "ever to be on guard against the jealousies that come of misrepresentation, and tend to render alien to one another those who ought to be tied in fraternal affection."

People Have Ruled Always.

The people ruled when our nationality was endangered, and the forever indissoluble ties were sealed anew by the master hand and martyred life of Abraham Lincoln. The people were ruling when the first complete Democratic victory in thirty years brought its blight of adversity, and the same people ruled when they transformed a crown of thorns into a wreath of bloom, redolent of the perfume of restored prosperity. They also ruled when they turned the wails of distress to the glad hosannas of a prosperous people inspired by William McKinley.

The same people, a plain people and a sane people, ruled in the awakening of the American conscience that marks a new era in our national life They do rule and will rule, whenever they bear the scepter of citizenship, and move in the light of deliberate and knowing public opinion which is the law of enlightened nations. They are ruling today, shielded by the law's supremacy and safeguarded by understanding. And they are ruling with unwavering faith and increased confidence in that fine embodiment of honesty, that fearless executor of the law, that inspiring personification of courage, that matchless exemplar of justice, that glorious apostle of peace and amity, William Howard Taft.

The Great Statesman.

Noting his stalwart greatness in the stress of passing events, I believe him the finest example of lofty patience since the immortal Lincoln bore the scourge of vengeful tongues without a murmur from his noble heart. I can best describe by appropriating and revising Tennyson's Statesman, to make it read—

"He, seeing far an end sublime,
"Contends, despising party rage,
"To hold the spirit of the age
"Against the clamor of the time."

Sirs, I have heard men arrogate to themselves the title of "progressive Republicans," seemingly forgetting that progression is the first essential to Republican fellowship. Progress was pronounced at the baptismal fount of our party christening, and Republican progress is the measure of American progress, orderly and enduring.

Progression Is Not Palaver.

Progression is not proclamation nor palaver. It is not pretense nor play on prejudice. It is not of personal pronouns, nor perennial pronouncement. It is not the perturbation of a people passion-wrought, nor a promise proposed. Progression is everlastingly lifting the standards that marked the end of the world's march yesterday and planting them on new and advanced heights today. Tested by such a standard, President Taft is the greatest progressive of the age.

"Not he that breaks the dams, but he
"That through channels of the state
"Convoys a people's wish, is great.
"His name is pure, his fame is free."

A Symptom of Progress.

I can believe, Mr. Chairman, that the turbulence, the unrest, the agitation, this caldron on the fire of our national life, is directly a symptom of human progress and indirectly a testimony to Republican accomplishment. World-wide as the condition is, it is of American inception. Out of our opening of the avenues of reward and opportunity and the higher attainments of citizenship, have come new aspirations and new desires. Out of our higher American standard of living come the added requirements of life. This awakened spirit is not to be paralyzed by blind content, for that would halt our progress, but it does greatly need the blend of helpful appreciation. The menace is not in higher desires and the attending restlessness, the peril lies in false promise and misguided hope. Safety and security are calling for the wholesome effects of political sincerity, for the helpful heralding of the glory of American life and the offerings of unhampered American opportunity.

Crucial Test at Hand.

It is needless to magnify and heedless to belittle the crisis of this eventful year. Representative democracy has come to the crucial test, and we know that a pure democracy has never been secure. Whatever is uttered now, through ambition, misunderstanding or falsehood, matters little except to warn and sober us. Tested before a watchful and jealous world that has ever predicted the instability of our sublime endeavor, our representative government bears the approval of a century of matchless experience. We have not only wrought the most of liberty and opportunity for ourselves at home, but the firmament of the earth, occident and orient, is aglow with shining suns of new republics, sped to the orbs of human progress by the force of our example. What a sacred duty then to guard today, as ever, against any who seek to undermine what they can not overthrow.

Sober Leadership Needed.

The imperious call of a people's higher aspirations must be answered in deliberation, through logical and lawful sequence. There is call for cool and sober and righteous leadership, and need of justice unfailing—justice to the least of them, justice to the greatest men. If no other motive impelled, in the very name of justice, the justice of a party, a people and a nation, the justice done and justice hoped for to sustain our faith, this Republican convention would enlist again under the just leadership of President Taft.

Opposition to his renomination is as nearly without precedent as it is without reason or excuse. This opposition was born of expediency and fostered in mendacity, but a triumphant Republican party is not one of expediency. While we have gone on to successive victories, holding measures above men, and principles above personalities, and aims above animosities, we have been so committed to abiding principles that every utterance of fifty years is in consonance with our declarations of today. The common enemy has been the party of expediency, catching up ephemeral whims, paramounting new troubles, bellying the sails of its ship of state to the winds of new grievances or the recrudescent old—and rarely reached port. And, Sirs, Ohio proudly reminds you now, that not one of her six Republican sons who have borne the party's national banner ever trailed it in defeat.

Sanction of People Necessary.

Let us not forget that the action of this convention goes to the people for their sanction. The American elector goes to the ballot-box in the light of understanding. I can foresee his plain and simple reasoning now, with one inevitable conclusion. Is my country at peace? Yes, honorable peace. Is my country prosperous? Yes, like no other on the earth. Is the law held supreme? Yes, as never before. Has my party kept the faith? Yes, and more, for its chief executive wrought reformations and advancement the party could not pledge. Is my government honestly and economically administered? Yes, the honesty is unquestioned and the economies set a new standard of national administration.

The record of the present Republican administration is not only proof of the conscience and the wisdom in our party declarations, and an impassable barrier to self-repudiation, but the record is impregnable to Democratic assault. More, except for the attack of disloyalty in our own ranks, inspired by pap rather than patriotism, the record would rate in current criticism as it will in history, the marvel of progressive accomplishment in one administration.

Record of Accomplishment.

The sum total of things done is far too extended for detailed enumeration now. The modernized, rationalized protective policy, vital to our continued industrial preeminence; unremitting warfare on greed and monopoly, in lawful procedure; conservation made real, in statutory and administrative regularity; a deficit turned to surplus, the corporation excise added, and progress toward corporate control; railroad regulation effected and carried to harmonious acceptance; four great measures specifically aimed to protect and exalt the workmen of the land, and prove our higher estimate of human rights; the courts held unassailable and unaffraid, as the bulwark of the weak, the shield of the helpless, the inhibition of the strong; protection of American rights and American lives, with new honor to our flag, in foreign lands, amid calm and comforting assurance, without a violation of comity or amity; new treaties and closer ties with the great nations of the earth, and the banner of world peace unfurled to the plaudits of all civilization: these are the loftier peaks, glistening in the sunlight, above the clouds and storm. Grouped about them, only a little less in altitude, in a surpassing spectacle of creative and constructive glory, are the approaching plains, the foot-hills, the ascending heights, the whole an unchangeable and pride-stirring testimonial to the actuality of progress in one great administration, not yet completed.

Into Halls of Memory.

With such a stage setting let us summon from the halls of memory the Republican presidents of this mighty people in inspiring review. Our concern is with the present and the future, but it is good to belong to a party that can glory in its past. During the greater part of more than a half century our party has stood sponsor for this nation's weal or woe. There is not a Republican who is not proud of the record of that time or of the men, chosen as we choose today, who bore the party banners, and wrought their lives and characters into the very fabric of our nationality. I can see them now, colossal Americans, revered in recollection, stalwarts in history's accurate estimate. Moved by this review, exclusively and preciously American, I present to you today a leader who is a composite of the virtues of all these so deservedly enshrined in our party pantheon—William Howard Taft—as wise and patient as Abraham Lincoln, as modest and dauntless as Ulysses S. Grant, as temperate and peace-loving as Rutherford B. Hayes, as patriotic and intellectual as James A. Garfield, as courtly and generous as Chester A. Arthur, as learned in the law as Benjamin Harrison, as sympathetic and brave as William McKinley, as progressive as his predecessor, with a moral stamina, breadth of view and sturdy manhood all his own

William Howard Taft.

KRAUTTER BROTHERS ARE ALLOWED PATENT

Claim To Have a Tire That Can Not Be Punctured.

William and G. A. Krautter, of this city, have been alowed a patent grant on a steel spring, rubber-encased, tire that can not be punctured, according to the claims of the inventors. The tire may be used on an automobile or any other vehicle. In addition to its durability, its inventors claim that the strong feature of the tires will be their cheapness. Already several firms are investigating the Marion men's invention, which may be sold to one of the big automobile manufacturers. The patent was obtained through Attorney George T. Geran.

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE MEETING

A Little Conference as to Executive Committee.

Saturday, in the grand jury room in the courthouse a meeting of the Republican central committee was held to talk over the appointment of an executive committee. At 2:45 o'clock Chairman L. B. McNeal declared that nothing had been done.

"It's just simply a little conference of the executive committee," he said. Louis E. Myers, a strong Taft man, is touted for the chairmanship of the new executive committee, the members of which will be named by the central committee.

A BETTER TONE IN THE MARKET

Outlook for Improvement Is Encouraging.

RAILROAD EARNINGS MOST SATISFACTORY

Bank Clearings Are Showing a Nice Gain.

Banker Henry Clews Views Financial Conditions and the Crop Situation Throughout the United States—He Declares the Outlook of the Stock Market Is Growing Much Better. His Opinion.

[BY HENRY CLEWS.]

New York, June 24.—Another week of apathy has been passed on the stock exchange. There is, however, a much better undertone in course of development, and if nothing interferes the outlook is for improvement generally in the business situation.

Much business has been deferred during the last few months. New enterprises have been pigeonholed and merchants could not be expected to stock up until they know better what contingencies must be faced. Many business men are simply waiting for the starting signal. When this comes we may look for a gradual renewal of trade activity.

Railroad earnings are satisfactory, thirty-five roads reporting for the first week in June showing a gain of seven per cent. over last year. Bank clearings showed a gain of ten per cent. for the second week in June, and this in spite of limited speculation. Crop reports are more encouraging, it being well understood that the condition of the leading crops has considerably improved since the government report, June 1.

Foreign Trade Good.

Our foreign trade continues in very flattering condition, the total exports for the eleven months of the fiscal year amounting to $2,066,000,000, an increase of $159,000,000 over a year ago. During the same period our imports amounted to $1,522,000,000, or $117,000,000 more than a year ago. This left a handsome trade balance in our favor, which, of course, has been largely settled by the unseen items in the account, such as freights, commissions, remittances, etc.

Naturally, the volume of our foreign trade has been much expanded by high prices. Nevertheless, an investigation as to quantities shows that gains have been general; the the only exceptions worth noting being a moderate decline in the quantity of corn and beef exported. The effect of price fluctuations upon our exports was strikingly shown in the case of cotton, which, in spite of an increase of 2,800,000 bales in quantity sent abroad for the eleven months, showed a falling off of $17,500,000 in value, owing to lower prices.

Encouraging Feature.

One of the most encouraging features in our foreign trade is the large growth in the exports of manufacturers, which is certain to continue and may be depended upon to fill the gap caused by diminution in shipments of food products required at home to feed a rapidly growing population.

Wall street will be considerably interested in the effects of the July disbursements which are second to the January returns in importance. This year they are estimated at over $250,000,000, a considerable increase over the returns a year ago. There is apparently a good investment demand for securities combining both safety and profit. Low rate interest bonds are neglected, and popular preference is turning toward the better issues. Railroad securities for the time being are less in demand, although the better class of short-term notes are readily absorbed.

Strain on Railroads.

In due season, railroad shares will doubtless regain their customary popularity; but the past year, which involved heavy concessions to labor when business was at a comparative standstill, imposed a heavy financial strain upon the railroads, and however well this may have been endured, it naturally affected the market for such securities.

Fortunately, the railroads are now emerging from this period of depression and reporting steady gains in earnings. It is to be hoped they may be allowed to recoup themselves for past shrinkage in profits before any further demands are imposed upon them. Fortunately, the demands of the engineers and other railroad operatives have gone to arbitration, so that on both sides there will be a better opportunity for mutual justice than could ever have been obtained by strikes, lockouts or any other form of force.

While the outlook of the stock market is for betterment, the situation is not without its drawbacks, which should not be ignored. New security issues since January 1 have been enormous. It is questionable whether any further important additions might not bring on a fit of financial indigestion.

New Capital Demanded.

The enormous demand for new capital has not been confined to the United States. It is world-wide and has been just as marked in Germany, France and other countries as in the United States. It is this enormous demand for new capital which enables investors to insist upon better returns. It also accounts to some degree for the weakness in British consols, French rentes and other government securities, although the tremendous additions to the public debt of various nations and municipalities has been an important factor in the decline in this class of investments. As noted in previous advices, Germany and Canada were the first to feel the effects of excessive issues.

The financial strain in Germany has been noticeable ever since the war scare last summer, and no little concern exists as to the approaching July settlements in Berlin. If these are passed in safety all will be well for the time being at least. The effects of overdoing in Canada are cropping to the surface, as shown by the recent partial failure of important Canadian issues in London.

In United States.

Fortunately, the United States is in a stronger position in such respects than most other countries, largely because we have been marking time for the last year or two and pursuing a course of strict conservatism. We are consequently in an exceptionally sound condition financially, commercially and industrially. The only dangers to be encountered at home are the possibilities of a crop failure or some political disturbance not yet foreseen. Unfortunately, there is some chance of a serious deadlock between congress and President Taft, who is almost certain to veto extravagant appropriation bills. For such a courageous policy, Mr. Taft should have the support of the best elements in public life. Nevertheless, the country is weary and apprehensive regarding any further political strife at Washington.

Taking all things into consideration, the outlook is for a better and gradually-hardening stock market, crops and politics permitting.

THE PYTHIAN SISTERS REMEMBER DEPARTED

Memorial Services Are Held by Canby Temple.

REV. J. P. CURRIN GIVES A PLEASING DISCOURSE

Mrs. Mollie Harmon Eulogizes the Departed Members—Special Tribute Is Paid the Late William T. Smith—Graves in Marion Cemetery Are Decorated.

The first annual memorial services of Canby Temple, No. 152, Pythian Sisters, were held in Canby hall in the Bennett block, corner Center and Main streets, Sunday afternoon, and were fairly well attended. A number of the members of Marion Temple, No. 381, attended the services, and out of respect for the memory of the late W. T. Smith, the only deceased member of Marion temple, his grave was decorated along with the eleven dead members of Canby temple.

Mrs. Bertha Carey, most excellent chief, called the meeting to order at 2:30 o'clock, the hall being beautifully decorated for the occasion. Misses Vesta Williamson and Fay Mack gave a piano duet, after which Most Excellent Chief Carey, Protector Inez Davis, and Outer Guard Anna Ulsh conducted the opening ceremonies. As the names of the departed were read by Mrs. Carey a large bouquet was placed on each vacant chair by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Ulsh. The chairs were placed in a semi-circle about the altar and were draped in myrtle and evergreen.

Following this impressive ceremony, Rev. J. P. Currin invoked the divine blessing and Mrs. Eva Hunter sang very touchingly, "There Is a Hill Far Away."

Rev. Mr. Currin delivered the address of the afternoon. It was full of good thoughts, and brought out many points of deep interest in Pythianism. He declared that true Pythians should be as loyal to their departed as to those with whom they mingled, and said that the memorial exercises formed a part of the loyalty of the living to the dead. His address was one long to be remembered by those who heard it.

Miss Lulu Keeler sang, "Not Lost, but Gone Before," in a pleasing manner, and was followed by Mrs. Mollie Harmon, who delivered the eulogy. Her eulogy was punctured with beautiful thoughts and sentiments, that brought tears to the eyes of many listeners.

The exercises were closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and the members repaired to the cemetery, where the graves of the departed were decoratd. The dead are Mrs. Rosa Oppenheimer, Mrs. Eliza Diebold, Mrs. Emma Schneider, Mrs. Ella Schoenberger, Mrs. Ollie Smeltzer, Samuel Beerbower, Dr. O. W. Weeks, John G. Mader, O. G. Johnson, Frank Levy and Thomas Evans, of Canby temple, and William T. Smith, of Marion temple. The following committee arranged for the memorial exercises:

Memorial—Mrs. Mollie Harmon, Mrs. Blanche Maass, Mrs. Etta Radebaugh, and Mrs. Zula Liggett.

Music—Mrs. Etta Radebaugh and Mrs. Dora Lewis.

Flowers—Mrs. Clara Paddock, Mrs. Emma Schweinfurth, Mrs. Clara Click and Mrs. Blanche Maass.

Ushers—Mrs. Eva Hunter and Miss Lulu Keller.

LABOR LEADERS DECLARED GUILTY

Of Contempt of Court by Justice Wright.

GOMPERS SENTENCED ONE YEAR IN JAIL

While Frank Morrison Gets Six Months.

Gompers, Morrison and Mitchell, with American Federation of Labor, Suppress Truth of Situation in Boycott on Bucks Stove Company, Declares Court in Bitter Denunciation of Men Today.

Washington, June 24.—Justice Wright, of the district supreme court, today found Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, of the American Federation of Labor, in contempt of court for violating an injunction issued against the boycott in the Bucks Stove & Range company's case.

Justice Wright read a bitter denunciation of the labor leaders and declared the American Federation of Labor "designedly suppressed the truth of the situation" in its fight against the stove company. The "unfair" list and the "We don't patronize" list merely were synonyms of the "boycott," Wright ruled.

Taking up the question of defiance of the respondents to the court's decree, Justice Wright stated they constituted themselves into a tribunal to defy the legality of the court's orders for the purpose of carrying out their designs in the campaign in question. He cited the expression, "Go to —— with your injunction," in one of Gompers' utterances, to demonstrate the defiance of the labor leaders and declared Gompers' "hostility to the court" and "revolutionary determination" was further emphasized by a speech he made at the Jamestown exposition.

Editorials in the Federationist, the decision said, further carried out the design of the officials. These appeared in January and February, 1908.

Justice Reads Excerpts.

Justice Wright also read excerpts from speeches and statements of Vice President Mitchell wherein the latter expressed his attitude toward the court and injunctions, one statement being:

"If a judge could enjoin me from exercising the right of free speech, I should feel compelled to exercise my constitutional liberty."

The labor men twice were tried. They were adjudged guilty on the first trial and Gompers was sentenced to a year, Mitchell nine months and Morrison six months in jail. The United States supreme court reversed the sentence on the plea that the proceedings had been improperly instituted. The district supreme court immediately set afoot new contempt proceedings.

Gompers and Morrison were in court, and smiled at times at the bitter words of Justice Wright.

Gompers was sentenced to twelve months in jail and Morrison to six months. Mitchell was not sentenced, as he was not in court.

Counsel for the defendants immediately filed an appeal to the district court of appeals, and they were released on bond.

CANDIDATES WILL NAME COMMITTEE

Decision Reached at Meeting of Republicans.

Marion county's Republican executive committee, this year, for the first time will be named by the Republican candidates for office. This was decided at a meeting of Republican central committeemen and the candidates held in the grand jury room, Saturday afternoon. Considerable sentiment had been expressed by the candidates that they be allowed to name the Executive committee instead of the Central committee, as has been the custom in the past, and Chairman L. B. McNeal, of the central committee, called the meeting to discuss the matter.

Another meeting will be held, Saturday, July 6, when the new executive committee probably will be named. Among the names most frequently mentioned for the chairmanship of the committee is that of L. E. Myers.

Talk of any bolt among so-called Roosevelt Republicans is declared to be "just gush" by Chairman McNeal, who as a Roosevelt supporter was elected chairman of the central committee.

CELEBRATION OF GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Maskey Married Fifty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Maskey, of Nevada, who have many friends in this vicinity, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Saturday, at their home. The day also marked the seventy-fifth birthday of Mr. Maskey. At noon, big dinner was served for the family and immediate relatives and a reception was tendered from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, about sixty friends being in attendance. Those in attendance at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. John Welch and daughter, Selma, of this city.

FOR THEIR DEEDS AGAINST PEOPLE

Republican Leaders Should Be Destroyed,

DECLARES ALTON B. PARKER IN SPEECH

When He Sounds the Keynote of His Party.

Parker Holds Incorporation in Constitution of a Safeguard Against Repeated Presidential Terms To Be a Necessity—Hits at High Cost of Living and Scores Payne-Aldrich Bill and Trusts of Country.

Baltimore, June 26.—Judge Alton B Parker of New York, in his address as temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention, sounded his party's keynote. Declaring no such epithets as were heard at the recent Chicago convention would punctuate Democratic proceedings, he said:

"We meet while the hills yet echo to wild cries of liar, thief and traitor, and furious wails of fraud, bribery, treachery and corruption, and our ears are weary with the din of the inarticulate shrieking and passionate vilification of the most shameful brawl of our political history.

"Our candidates, however, are without exception men of such lofty mien that we meet immune from the discomfort which seized the Chicago convention and privileged to discharge a solemn public duty calmly, deliberately, seriously.

"The cause of government by the people the world over has been materially checked by the disgraceful brawl which terminated in the bedlam of Chicago. Every good citizen has been put to shame by the brutality and the abuse which characterized this wrangle between a president and an erstwhile president.

"The assault upon the unwritten prohibition against a third term made in the wild scramble for the Republican nomination warns us of the vital necessity of incorporating in our constitution a safeguard against repeated terms.

"Would the man who threw his hat in the ring and sought to slug his opponent over the ropes in his fight for a third term rest satisfied with its achievement? Clearly his lust of power would have brooked no such limitation. A third term would but whetted his desire for more. This is the man who menaced us with an increase of federal power by usurpation of state's rights and without authority of constitutional amendment, the man who took the Isthmus of Panama and let congress debate it afterward, the man who, having enough money to send the fleet on its famous cruise to the Pacific, sent it without sanction of congress, leaving it to appropriate the money for the return when congress deemed that necessary. This is the man who advocated federal incorporation for the increase of power at Washington and the lightening of legal burdens on the corporations; the man who authorized the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the steel trust.

"He who runs may read the danger that threatens the country ruled by such a man.

High Cost of Living.

"Too large a part of our wealth has been secured by a small percentage of our population and the cost of living rises faster than the average income.

"The principal cause of all this is to be found in the tariff statutes, and in the combinations restraining trade and competition.

"In vain did the people demand of congress the fulfillment of Republican pledges, for the masters of that party—the protected interests—insisted upon the pound of flesh nominated in the bond. And it was yielded. Congress passed and the president signed the Payne-Aldrich bill.

"The Republican party has thus geared the machinery of government to enrich the few at the expense of the many. The increase of 30 per cent in the average has taken thousands of millions from the general public and this has been devoted to the creation of swollen fortunes.

"An awakening of the people led the Republican national convention of 1908 by its platform to promise a revision.

"The temporary failure, owing to the action of the electorate of Canada, of the effort to effectuate reciprocity with that country, is regrettable. The movement started was in the right direction, because it was toward a competitive policy. Its purpose was to lessen the cost of living.

"The reason for the encouraging inactivity of the Republican officials is plain. The tariff beneficiaries were, and for many years had been, contributors to campaign funds of the party, which in turn protected the special privileges enjoyed by the donors. The same party which shut out foreign competition was found willing to permit the formation of combinations which effectually banished home competition.

Assails Republican Leaders.

"We are indebted to the president for the evidence that his predecessor, having first enjoyed an interview with George W. Perkins, restrained his attorney general from bringing suit against the harvester trust.

"For the steel corporation he went further, for he wrote his attorney general in advance of its absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company that he had decided 'to interpose no objection.'

"Whatever of excuse may be offered the ugly truth is that the Republican national machine has received the moneys of the corporate and individual beneficiaries of the tariff and combinations and in return has compelled congress to keep high the tariff rates and their attorney generals to close their eyes to violations of law.

"For their crimes against American citizenship the present leaders of the Republican party should be destroyed.

"For making and keeping the bargain to take care of the tariff protected interests in consideration of campaign funds they should be destroyed.

"For encouraging the creation of combines to restrain trade and refusing to enforce the law for a like consideration they should be destroyed.

"For the lavish waste of the public funds, for the fraudulent disposition of the people's domain and for their contribution toward the division of the people into classes, they should be destroyed.

"For their efforts to seize for the executive department of the federal government powers rightfully belonging to the states, they should be destroyed.

"Destruction will be theirs, this very year, if we but do our duty.

Duty of Democrats.

"What is our duty? To think alike as to men and measures? Impossible! There is not a reactionary among us. All Democrats are progressives. But it is inevitably human that we shall not all agree that in a single highway is found the only road to progress, or each make the same man of all our worthy candidates his first choice.

"It is possible, however, and it is our duty, to put aside all selfishness, to consent cheerfully that the majority shall speak for each of us, and to march out of this convention shoulder to shoulder, intoning the praises of our chosen leader—and that will be his due, whichever of the honorable and able men now claiming our attention be chosen."

BRYAN'S PLANKS ARE APPROVED

planks of the proposed platform which were prepared by other members of the sub-committee of eleven. This latter plan of operation was evolved late in the morning. It was decided, inasmuch as the policy of the party would find its best expression in the tariff and money questions, that Mr. Bryan should have a hand in the preparation of the planks on this subject. When the door of the committee room occupied by Mr Bryan and Mr O'Gorman was opened from time to time, the Nebraskan could be seen leaning toward his stenographer dictating. Committeeman Pomerene sat across the table writing, while Senator O'Gorman listened and frequently offered sugestions. He left the room for ten minutes shortly after noon, but would make no statement other than to say that they were working on the tariff plank.

PLANKS ARE UP TO THE MINUTE

The only men who remained in the room after noon were the two members of the sub-committee a stenographer and T J Walsh, secretary of the resolutions committee. Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, was in the room for a short time.

A GREAT MOB SWARMS HALL

smiling comment to Mrs Mack. The crowd assembled slowly. As they came in those already there pointed out the party of the "First Lady of the Land," and Mrs Taft was the center of attraction.

The delegates were slow in getting in. Five minutes before the time set for reconvening, the spaces reserved for the delegates were half empty. In spite of the prospect for lively action, the galleries were also slow in filling up. It was another coatless, red hot day with the humidity oppressive and provocative of trouble.

Split Is Rumored.

There was a report as the delegates came together that Charles F. Murphy and Roger Sullivan had split. It came from Bryan headquarters and when Mr. Sullivan was asked about it he said:

"Mr. Murphy and myself do not always agree." Then he added: "It is very clear, isn't it, that we have different opinions on matters that arise in this convention. I don't know for whom his delegation will vote. I do know for whom mine will vote."

The band, which had done manful duty on the lean days of attendance, caught the spirit of manana that pervaded the atmosphere. It loafed along through "Old Black Joe," and then played the airs of "Maryland, My Maryland," "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Virginia," in a dreamy call-me-at-10 fashion.

Then the musicians woke up in a hurry and brought the convention to its feet with "Dixie." While the delegates waited for the gavel to fall, Senator Lea, of Tennessee, held a conference with Chairman Parker. Then the secretary called Senator Smith to join them. The tune changed to "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." Mrs. Mack told Mrs Taft what the tune was and she laughed heartily.

Extra Police Guard.

As a sequel to the lively session of last night, it was learned today that Police Marshal Farnum had ordered out an additional detail of 150 police to guard the convention entrances. The marshal said he did not expect trouble, but wanted sufficient men on hand.

Before the session began there came a charge that the hall was being back far beyond the danger point and that the authority to control the situation had been taken from Chairman Crane of the local committee. The charge was soon supported by the protest of Mr. Crane and the throwing open of the doors to a mob that swarmed in. It packed the entire space behind the delegates, rows of seats to what Mr. Crane earnestly declared to be a point far beyond the limit of safety. Row after row of standers were permitted to back along the rear of the hall.

Far up on the window sills in the rear of the galleries the freely-admitted spectators festooned themselves.

There was not an inch of space in the armory upon which one person could have been placed when the first cheer came. It came when a delegate tacked a large picture of Champ Clark to the Arkansas standard. Missouri followed suit at once and California was next to put the sign in place.

Delegate Roland S Morris, of Pennsylvania, started the day's struggle with a minority report from the credentials committee. He said:

"I desire to submit on behalf of twenty-two members of the convention a minority report with reference to the state of South Dakota. I shall offer the minority report as a substitute for the majority report and make a few statements in support of the minority report."

The majority report presented at last night's session held that the Andrew Lee set of delegates, the Clark men, should be seated. The minority report held that the Wilson men should have been seated. The report set forth that the Wilson men were elected.

Three Tickets in Field.

There were three tickets in the field, said Morris. The Wilson-Bryan progressive ticket was first in the field. The other tickets were the Clark-Bryan progressive ticket and the Clark-for-president ticket. The committee seated the Clark men because the total for the two tickets on which Clark's name appeared was greater than the vote for the Wilson ticket. Morris pointed out that the two sets of Clark delegates were separate and distinct. In finding for the Clark men, Morris said, the delegations were not divided, but the total was given to the delegates on the Clark-for-president ticket.

"If we should sustain any such unusual ruling of the credentials committee, we would override the primary law of South Dakota," the speaker declared. He asked that no demonstration be started when the name of any candidate is mentioned. When Morris spoke of the Clark-for-president ticket, there was brief cheering, but it soon died down.

Ex-Governor W A McCorkle, of West Virginia, asked the right "to present the right of a sovereign state to a vote on the floor." He said that he did not represent any faction, but merely spoke as the representative of the majority of the credentials committee.

Mrs. Taft Startled.

As McCorkle started his speech, a photographer shot a flash lamp in front of Mrs. Taft's seat. A puff of smoke arose and the First Lady of the Land, much alarmed, leaned forward with compressed lips to see what had happened. Clark's name in McCorkle's remarks brought forth a scattered burst of applause. After he had stated the case for several minutes, Senator Lea jumped to the front.

"Will the gentleman give time for a question?" he asked.?

"My question is The day after the executive committee certified to the election he received a letter from the secretary of state saying that he had returns from only about sixteen counties. How can the committee have this certificate in the face of this letter?"

"I will answer that question by a question," replied Mr. McCorkle.

"How does he stand upon a certificate issued upon the same day, when the same returns were in, by a Republican canvassing board?"

"I'll answer," said Senator Lea.

Mr. Lea replied when the governor finished that the certificate he had was based on the figures.

Texan Says Piece.

M. M. Crane, of Texas, spoke next for the minority.

Crane said the contention of the majority that the certificates of the Republican officials should not be believed was not morally right. He added that no man should assume that a man had told an official untruth because that official was a Republican.

Former Governor Blanchard, of Louisiana, spoke for the contestees.

"This case ought to be decided upon its merits, irrespective of the claims of any aspirant to the presidency," he began.

"On its merits there is only one side to this case."

The national committee seated the delegates known as the contestees. The majority of the committee of credentials reversed their decision.

Blanchard then recited the facts as he saw them.

Throughout the speaking, the vast crowd packed into the building was restive. There was confusion and an under-hum of talking that made the task of the speakers difficult.

Neither delegates nor spectators displayed interest in the contests, and it was only when the speaker mentioned the name of some candidate that they paid any attention.

James Is Applauded.

Ollie James, the permanent chairman, came in when Governor Blanchard was speaking. He got a hand-clapping as he walked down the center aisle to his seat.

Governor Blanchard went into the legal phases of the case. While he was talking, the confusion became so great that it was difficult to hear what he had to say. The confusion came as much from the seats where the delegates were seated as from the crowded gallery. When he finished and it was seen another speaker was to follow there were cries of "Vote, vote."

Chairman Joseph E. Bell, of Indiana, said the letter of the South Dakota state chairman reported that Champ Clark had received sixty-five per cent. of the vote of the state.

Bell proceeded to read the much-quoted letter in favor of the seating of the Lee delegates, who are for Clark.

"Only sixteen counties," called the delegates from New Jersey.

Mr Bell added that there was a scheme in the Dakota election to split the Clark vote for the benefit of Wilson and that in spite of the fact that Clark got 7,000 votes to 1,200 for Wilson. Somebody blew a tin horn out in the hall.

Confusion Reigns.

"Will the gentleman kindly desist from blowing his horn?" asked the sergeant-at-arms through a megaphone. Then Mr. Bell asked the convention to vote for the majority report.

T. J. Knox, of Minnesota, followed. Before he had taken his place there were more cries of "Vote, vote."

Knox started at once to tell all over again the story of the three tickets and the plurality. His story had not progressed far before handclapping and hooting began in all parts of the hall.

The speaker's voice grew husky in his effort to make himself heard over the confusion. When he coupled Wilson's and Clark's names in a sentence there was so much noise from the two factions that he was forced to suspend entirely, while the sergeant-at-arms hammered industriously for order.

House in Disorder.

Knox closed with the house in disorder while the delegates and the galleries took up the cry "Vote, vote."

Theodore A. Bell, of California, took the place of his namesake to close the argument.

"Vote, vote, vote."

"Question, question, question."

The double series of calls came from the delegates, tired of debate.

"When the people of a state express their choice for a man for president," said Bell, "the delegates of this convention must vote to let them express their will."

Bell charged that a Wilson trick to cheat Clark out of the vote of the state had been prepared.

Bell charged that 7,000 Democrats in South Dakota had voted for Clark.

"And Wilson," chorused the Wilson men. "Be honest."

Earl Brewer, of Mississippi, came into the debate and started a riproaring demonstration.

"Did the people of South Dakota have a primary election?" he asked.

"They did," replied Mr. Bell.

"Who got the majority of the votes?"

"Champ Clark."

Cheers for Wilson.

"No, o-o" came the long roll of protest. The Wilson delegates were all on their feet crying for their man. Governor Blanchard came to ask a question.

"The question I was asking the gentleman from California is this: Two of those tickets——." He got no further. Some one in the gallery cried "Three cheers for Wilson." A united demonstration began. Twenty pictures of Wilson were flashed into sight.

Banners were waved over the heads of the shouting, screaming and cheering delegates, who stood on chairs and shouted themselves hoarse.

"Give us Wilson, we'll give you Minnesota," was the legend on a banner that led a Wilson parade.

The Clark people shouted their battle cry and came to the front for a convention demonstration.

"Champ Clark, our next president," was heralded in white letters.

Underwood Tribe Comes.

The Missouri standard was plucked from its place and carried behind the great red gonfallen of Clark. Then came the Underwood tribe to add to the babel. They carried a banner with the sign.

"What is the issue? What is the answer? Underwood."

The dense crush in the house had caused a conflict between the city and convention authorities. At 2 o'clock the police closed all doors and forbade any one, whether delegate or not, to enter. The hall was now on fire with enthusiasm and fanned at every moment by some new addition to the stirring, seething mass on the floor.

The Pennsylvania delegation jumped into the tumult with a banner saying:

"Give Us Wilson; We Will Give You Pennsylvania."

The news came that the action of the police in closing the doors and refusing to allow any more people to enter had been taken on the order of the fire marshal, who feared a holocaust or a serious disaster if the packing of the hall continued.

Mrs. Taft, in the gallery, stood up and watched in wonder the strange sight of men, who shouted, marched and sang for the men they most admired. She soon took her seat again, but scanned the hall with opera glasses.

"Bang."

A salute came from a big flashlight battery of a photographer recording the turbulent scene.

A Pathetic Scene.

A big orange and black banner bearing the legend:

"Staunton, Wilson's Birthplace," was unfolded by the Virginia delegates and was greeted with a cheer.

Four big men, all on the silver side of life, bore the Clark flag. It was a pathetic sight to see the old-fellows struggling almost to the point of collapse with their burden.

Around and around the hall went the parading columns.

The smoke of the flashlight hung low over the hall, giving the realistic touch of actual battle.

"Give Us Wilson, We'll Give You Oregon," was unfurled and took its place with similar banners from Pennsylvania and Minnesota.

Even the modest blue and gold banner of Governor Simeon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, got into play with the Nutmeg state's delegation solidly behind it.

Mrs. Harry Clemons, of Hamilton, Kansas, stood upon the chair of ex-Governor Francis, of Missouri, holding aloft a picture of Champ Clark in one hand and the standard of one state delegation in the other.

Through the megaphone, the sergeant-at-arms managed to get a call to order to the floor, twenty-one minutes after the demonstration started. He said the police would be called upon to enforce order if it did not come.

The chair did not like the assumption of authority, and when Senator Lea declared the minority report had carried, Judge Parker again put the question and a roll call was demanded.

"State the question," demanded the delegates.

"The question," said Judge Parker, "is upon the motion to adopt the minority report. All in favor of the minority report will vote aye."

The roll call then began.

The big surprise of a wildly-turbulent vote was when New York gave ninety solid votes to the seating of the Wilson delegates.

The official vote was: Ayes, 637; noes, 415. The Wilson delegates had won.

Demonstrations Are Many.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27.—Twenty-one minutes of utter confusion and aimless cheering in the Democratic national convention this afternoon interrupted debate on the South Dakota delegate contests. The cheering that ended in one of the wildest demonstrations that had marked the convention, came when Delegate Bell, of California, had begun an argument for seating the Clark delegates in that state. A man in the gallery shouted "Three cheers for Wilson." Then the demonstration started. Every candidate was cheered. Every delegate for every candidate enjoyed himself to the full.

When the confusion had finally subsided, Bell resumed speaking. The convention had been in session nearly two hours and no vote had been reached.

After devotional exercises by Rev Mr. Tollock, the address of welcome was given by Rev. D. A. Riggs. A selection by the Bucyrus Male quartet was followed by a reading, "The Latest Method in Primary Work," by Mrs. S. T. Cartwright. This was followed by the appointment of committees.

The afternoon session was opened at 2 o'clock. After the song service, the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. William D. Klein. Miss Mary T. Langley next sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Grace S. Senner on the cello. A paper entitled "The Spiritual Light of the Child," was then read by Rev. S. K. Mahon. After a selection by the quartet, a round table discussion was held under the direction of Mrs. N. T. Cartwright. Music was furnished by the Martel orchestra, and Mrs. D. A. Riggs gave a readying, "A Talk to the Children," Miss Langley and Miss Senner then gave another musical selection. The reports of the committees were next heard.

The evening session, which began at 7:30 o'clock, was opened by singing. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. R. Keeran. Misses Langley and Senner furnished another musical number, and Rev. D. V. Eolbeer gave a reading, entitled "How To Train Teachers." After music by the Martel orchestra, Rev. D. A. Riggs read a paper, entitled "How We Lose Control of the Boys and Girls in the Sunday-Schools." A musical selection by the quartet closed a most excellent program.

TWO YOUNGSTERS IN VERY SERIOUS TROUBLE

Charged with Robbing Till at Abel Garage.

Two youngsters, who are declared to have been robbing a till at the Abel automobile garage on Court street, were turned over to the custody of Chief Probation Officer S. N. Titus, Friday afternoon. That morning, Officer Titus conferred with Judge W. S. Spencer, of the juvenile court, who gave directions to have the lads presented before him that afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The boys are aged about twelve years. After being taken in custody, they were allowed to go to their homes. Their parents promised to see to it that they were before the court at 3 o'clock. Because of their tender years and of the court's disposition to give them a lecture, and allow them to be released without prosecution, the boys' names are withheld. The youngsters were released on probation.

The business meeting of the annual rally of the Twelfth district of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World convened in the Tally Wag hall, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, with an attendance of 351 women. Marion hive was represented by a delegation of sixty-six, and the remainder were delegates from the other eighteen hives in the district, and a number of visitors from surrounding hives.

The presiding chair was occupied by Supreme Finance Auditor Nellie C. V. Heppert, of Akron. She was assisted by Great Deputy Commander Fannie E. Smith, of Wellington, and Mrs. J. W. Stose, of Marion.

Two applications were received for membership, and two others were ballotted on for the local hive. Five candidates were initiated, three being benefit members for Marion Hive, No. 231, one benefit member for Lillian Hive, No. 184, of Richwood, and one social member for Sunshine Hive, No. 63 of Crestline.

Prizes Awarded.

At last year's meeting it was decided to award a prize to the largest delegation present on a percentage basis, and also a prize to the hive that had secured the largest number of members initiated into the order from October 1, 1911, to June 20, 1912. Mrs. Fannie E. Smith, of Wellington, and Mrs. W. S. Staley, of Marion, were appointed a committee to award the prizes. Aluminum Hive No. 52, of Shelby, received a prize of $10 in the membership contest, having initiated seventy-two candidates since last October. Richland Hive, No. 385, of Mansfield, received the other prize of $10 for having the largest delegation present. Of its fifty-three members, twenty-eight attended the convention. The following resolution committee was appointed:

Dr. Mary Kerr, of Shelby; Mrs. Weaver, of Crestline, and Mrs. A. N. LaRue, of Richwood.

After the committee had made its report the resolutions were adopted and placed on file.

Mrs. O. C. Danner, of Marion; Mrs. Alice Slaybach, of Shelby, and Mrs. Pannebaker, of Crestline, were also appointed a committee to set the date for the next meeting. The meeting will be held at Shelby the third Thursday in June, 1913.

The meeting was closed with a beautiful ritualistic memorial service in memory of Mrs. Anna E. Bailey, a member of the local hive, who died in this city January 30.

The Evening Session.

A recess was then taken until 7:30 o'clock, when an open meeting was held, about 600 being in attendance. The program was opened with a selection by McNeal's orchestra, after which the address of welcome was given by Deputy Great Commander Fannie E. Smith, of Wellington. The remainder of the program consisted of two readings by Miss Anna Marie Howard, two solos by Miss Irene Neally, two readings by Miss Winona Holmes and another selection by the orchestra.

At the close of the entertainment, about 300 remained and enjoyed dancing to music furnished by the orchestra. The dancing continued until after midnight, and throughout the evening punch was served.

The club-rooms and ballroom were beautifully decorated with potted plants, cut flowers and the colors of the order, black, red and white.

LOOKING FOR THE MAN WHO IS IMPERSONATOR

Workhouse Superintendent Offers a Reward for Capture.

Authorities of Marion, Dayton and Springfield are looking for the man who impersonated Justice Charles W. Haberman over the telephone and thereby secured the release from the Dayton workhouse of Mrs. James F. Camm, who was sentenced to that institution to serve sixty days, June 3.

The man not only succeeding in securing the woman's release, but managed to have the telephone message charged to Justice Haberman. The man was in Springfield at the time. The Springfield operator will lose her position as a result, it is said.

Superintendent Johnson, of the workhouse, has offered $25 reward for the capture of the man who duped him. Besides, he is out the woman's car fare to Marion and will also have to pay her car fare and that of Constable James F. Ullom from Marion back to Dayton.

James F. Camm, the husband of the woman, is not in the city.

Mrs. Camm was sentenced to the workhouse by Justice Haberman for unhitching and driving away Frank Showers' horse without the owner's consent. She had been arrested on a charge of horse-stealing.

THE CHICAGO RESULT AND THE COMING RESULT

The result at Chicago is what most genuine Republicans wished for, and the only thing that a consistent Republican convention could do. The denial of a renomination to President Taft would have been self-repudiation, a surrender to expediency on the one hand, or a surrender to Roosevelt dictation on the other, which no representative party could tolerate. That President Taft merited renomination no sincere Republican will deny. That he is not a popular candidate no discerning Republican will pretend. His followers hope; nay, they believe, that in the deliberation of the people that comes of a campaign, he will come to that just estimate that fixes him in a high place among our great presidents, one who has kept the faith most fully, amid the stress of an evolutionary or revolutionary time. The Republican party faced as unpromising a situation in 1872, and achieved its most signal victory in November of that year.

The platform is a great document. It can be subscribed to by every Republican in the land, who does not put the initiative and referendum and recall above all other political hopes and aims. It is sincerely progressive, not pretentiously so. It is a platform on which Colonel Roosevelt might have made a campaign, or Hadley of Missouri or Borah of Idaho. It will appeal to the thinking, deliberating electors of the country. And aside from being a great party utterance, it served the political purpose of putting the unreasoning and inconsistent Roosevelt followers in an indefensible position. The Roosevelt followers in Illinois, Missouri and other so-called progressive states could not be held from voting for it by the Roosevelt dictation, for they recognized it as the embodiment of the best declarations of party faith. The Roosevelt followers that sat mute, declining to endorse it, had not the excuse of the La Follette followers, who proclaimed it lacking radical declarations. The colonel's supporters had no excuse except blind devotion to their hero, who aimed to disrupt a convention he could not control. The popular idol, intoxicated with ambition, sought to do with the convention just what he has aimed to do with the party- he was determined to rule or ruin. The latter is possible, but no one man can rule the Republican party.

Keen political leaders believe that a different result was possible in the Chicago convention had not the beaten Roosevelt placed his personal ambitions above all else. The warfare between the colonel and President Taft, inexcusable in the attack and unavoidable in the defense, had gone to such extremes that many delegates, holding the party vastly greater than either, would have moved to compromise and harmony, but Mr. Roosevelt was committed to the rule-or-ruin, and he could not rule. The movement to a new party is ample proof What it will amount to remains to be seen. The American people are fair-minded. They like a good loser as well as a good winner. Roosevelt first said he would accept a nomination if tendered, then he fought for it and fought hard. That far it was easy for his devotees to go. But to bolt when beaten, and beaten just as he had won his previous triumphs, is quite another matter. The prospect of going on with the new party will grow less alluring as the sober afterthoughts prevail. The country is applauding the Hadley that fought, and then refused to desert, declaring he could render a higher service in his party. The country admires the Borah that holds the same position. Contention within the party keeps it alive and abreast of the progressive age. And the platform of 1912 is in harmony with the best thought and the highest aspirations of the American people. President Taft is in harmony with the platform, and has an unimpeachable record of things done to give emphasis to its sincerity. The prospect is not wholly clear today, but the knowing public and popular sentiment of our American people seldom goes very far astray. Understanding and appreciation will come before next November, and we look to see President Taft come into his own.

Do you remember the humorist who wrote the "Spoopendike Papers," and told of the adventures of Gwendolyn Mehaffey? And have you noticed that Mr. Bryan's repertorial effusions are copyrighted by Virgil McNitt? That name would have filled Stanley Huntley with joy.

The fellows at Baltimore who insist they are naming the next president, have taken particular pains to mention President Taft several times. This helps us to accept their statements without debate.

THE 1912 CHAUTAUQUA ONLY FOUR WEEKS AWAY

Get away from politics for a few minutes and make a mental note that the next big thing in Marion is the annual assembly of the Marion County chautauqua.

It is only four weeks away, opening on Saturday afternoon, July 20, and continuing for nine days. It is not a money-making enterprise, not a worker connected with it, so far as Marion is concerned, has a selfish interest to serve. The board and executive officers serve without compensation, and any profits that come of an annual assembly, as was the case last year, go to a fund to perpetuate the institution. There isn't an impelling purpose other than the desire to benefit Marion county. Knowing all this, we may accept at full value the claim that the 1912 program is a superior offering to those which have preceded it. To be sure, any chautauqua program will be measured by personal preferences, and the offering that most appeals to one will not so impress another, but the management measures its program by the general estimate of the chautauqua world.

The 1912 program has no lecturer of the well-known drawing power of Colonel Bryan, but its talent averages higher in fame than the offering of last year. Comparison is not applicable to Governor Glenn, George R. Stuart, Adam Bede and Dr. Ott, for they are return engagements, almost unanimously requested. But there is commanding new talent this year, so far as Marion chautauqua acquaintance is concerned. Senator Gore, of Oklahoma is of nation-wide fame. Ex-Senator Cannon of Utah is famed in politics, warfare on polygamy and the magazine world. Bishop Bristol and Father MacCorry are two highly eminent churchmen. L. J. Beauchamp, Adain Newens, Frank Dixon and Judge George Alden as much deserve their chautauqua popularity as any men on the platform. Last year's favored morning work of Professor Pearson will be fittingly followed this year by the morning lectures of Dr. Lockwood and Professor Crooks, and the preludes, concerts, recitals and entertainments that complete the program are really thought to be superior to last year. The simple truth is that it is the best program that could be procured, and cost was not considered. It is an agreeable notoriety in chautauqua circles that Marion puts on the most expensive program in the country.

So much for the program; the chautauqua's success rests with the people for whom it is given. Their attendance and enthusiasm, their needed approval puts on the final stamp of success.

There will be enlarged and improved facilities this year, a new assembly tent, and the enhancement that is suggested by experience. The only thing remaining to be done is to get 3,000 season tickets in the hands of interested patrons, 3,000 ticket holders at the basic popular price, and have that 3,000 people boosting for the success of the 1912 assembly. The guarantors assure the program, but the 3,000 ticket purchasers will become the stockholders in this unselfish enterprise, and draw all the dividends it pays.

Boost the 1912 assembly.

VETO OF PRESIDENT FULLY JUSTIFIED

If the congressional conspiracy to humiliate Generals Wood and Funston succeeds, despite the president's veto, Monday, of the measure intended to accomplish their downfall, there will be further proof that "republics are ungrateful." The provision that no man shall be given commanding rank in the army until he has served ten years in subordinate rank in the line, takes no account of genius or superior merit. Such a regulation would have robbed France of Napoleon, and almost every one of his brilliant marshals. It would have robbed America of Washington, McPherson, Sheridan and others. Great commanders are born, not made.

General Wood had, at the time he was transferred from the medical corps to the line, more actual field experience than many of his superiors in rank. He has made good since then in the highest commands in the army. Had his administration as chief of staff been supported by congress, the army now would be in a higher state of preparedness than at any time since the grand review of the bronzed veterans of the civil war at the end of that great struggle.

Funston, too, is a born soldier. He had led an adventurous life in many lands. He was not a raw recruit when he went to the front as colonel of the Twentieth Kansas. He had commanded government expeditions in Alaska; he had scouted for government departments, he had been a student, an observer and a fighter for years. He is a man of poise and resource. Does any one doubt that, in the event of a great war, these men would not, by their very merits, force their way to the front? And is our army to be managed by congressional cabal and promotions governed by marriage relations with congressmen? Not for long.

CONSCIENCE MONEY TO GO INTO PIKE FUND

The Supreme Court Renders Its Decision Thursday.

CHARLES L. ALLEN BEATEN IN CONTENTION

County Commissioners Endowed with Power To Have the Auditor Certify the Money into the Fund They Wish—Costs of Litigation Are Not Heavy.

Thursday, Marion county's celebrated $500 conscience case was decided by the supreme court, and the money involved will be placed to the credit of the pike fund as directed by the county commissioners in January, 1909.

That the case is regarded as a notable one, is indicated by the supreme court's action in reporting it, which means that the court's opinion will be recorded in the law books. Ordinarily, the supreme court merely affirms or reserves without giving opinions.

Incidentally, the decision, is a big victory for Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, who carried it to the highest tribunal after losing in both the common pleas and circuit courts.

In January, 1909, a few days after Prosecutor Justice took office, the late County Treasurer W. C. Wottring called him to the courthouse and showed him $500 in yellow bills. The money had been received by the treasurer in his mail from an anonymous contributor, with a badly-written letter, which said:

"Pleas put enclosed $500 in county treasury, money that don't realy belong to me for which I could done that much cheaper."

Prosecutor's Opinion.

The prosecutor informed the treasurer to notify the commissioners, and later the commissioners asked the prosecutor's advice. Mr. Justice told them that they were the guardians of the county's money and that they could direct that it be placed in any fund that they saw fit. At that time the pike fund was pretty well drained and it was decided to put the money in that fund. It was thought by the commissioners that, if the unknown contributor had obtained the money as he had said, he probably got it in building pikes for the county.

However, the only way to get money into the county treasury, except by the payment of taxes, is through the county auditor certifying it. Charles L. Allen, who was county auditor at that time, refused to certify the money into the pike fund, as directed by the commissioners. He contended that the money should be certified into the general fund, where it would be generally distributed.

A Mandamus Suit.

William H. Selter, Daniel Selter and Joseph Gillespie, who were Republican county commissioners at that time, again consulted the prosecutor, who advised mandamus proceedings against the auditor. The suit in mandamus was entitled the state of Ohio, on relation of the board of county commissioners, against Charles L. Allen, county auditor.

Auditor Allen, through former Prosecuting Attorney John H. Clark, demurrered to the action and Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline, sustained the demurrer, which set up that the facts stated were not sufficient to maintain an action. Judge Babst dismissed the petition.

Prosecutor Justice then appealed to the circuit court, which sustained Judge Babst Judge Silas E. Hurin, of Findlay, who was then on the circuit bench with W. H. Kinder, of Findlay, and Michael Donnelly, of Napoleon, read the opinion.

Is Still Confident.

Still confident that he was right and that the decisions of the common pleas and circuit judges were wrong, the prosecutor then went to the state's highest tribunal on error. He was jubilant when he received the telegram informing him of the court's decision.

Contrary to reports, Prosecutor Justice declares that the costs in the case will not "eat up" the amount of the conscience money contributed or any considerable part of it. The costs are small, Prosecutor Justice states, because no testimony was taken.

The case was argued in the supreme court, June 3, arguments being made in behalf of the county commissioners by Justice and former Prosecutor Fred E Guthery. John H Clark argued in behalf of former Auditor Allen.

JAMES DELIVERS KEYNOTE SPEECH

The Second of the Democratic Gathering.

SAYS HIS PARTY IS ONE OF THE PEOPLE

Because Its Battle Is for the Right.

No Cry of Bribery, Thief and Robber Is Heard in Democratic Ranks, Declares James, and the Party Is Sure To Win and Again Come into Power in Behalf of the Interests of the People of the Country.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 27. — After Senator-Elect Ollie James, of Kentucky, had been elected permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention, he made an address in which he paid close attention to the tariff. He said:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: I am deeply grateful to this great convention of patriotic Democrats for the high honor you have bestowed upon me in calling me to preside over your deliberations while you select the next president of this great republic.

"I congratulate the Democrats of the nation upon the fortunate auspices under which we have assembled. Here no charge of bribery hovers above this hall, no cry of thief and robber is hurled by one fellow-Democrat at another. No soldiers stand in reserve to keep us from each other's throats. Our deliberation here shall be for the country's good. Tolerant of each other's vows, believing as I do that when the nominees are named by this convention, they will have back of them every loyal Democrat in the republic, as well as the support of progressives everywhere.

Party of the People.

"The Democratic party is a party of the people, because it is the people. It has fought a long hard battle, when it seemed that night would gather and that day would never dawn. But the battle in the interests of rights of the people has been continued until we see the common enemy, the once-great Republican party, divided and torn asunder, while Democracq is united and militant.

"The Republican party itself, recognizing that President Taft had not been faithful to the great mass of the people, hesitated to nominate him. It was only brought about by the most deliberate unseating of delegates honestly elected that was ever perpetrated in American politics.

Takes the Reins.

"The Republicans, flushed with many victories, imperious as a tyrant unheeding the demands of the people, took the reins of the government in 1906 with the solemn promise that they would revise the tariff in the interest of consumer. Instead of keeping this promise, as they should have done, because it was their bond of honor, they betrayed it They raised the tariff higher than ever before until it reached its maximum of protection, being forty-seven per cent The story of this base betrayal is known to all men.

"The Democratic party appealed on their record, in the sixty-first congress upon the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, to the American people, and we receive from them a verdict of guilty against the Republican party and the bestowal of power upon ourselves. How faithfully we have kept our promises to them is but a resume of our official action. Having control of but one branch of the law-making power, that of the house of representatives, we undertook to reform the tariff in the interest of the consuming public, believing as we do that it is a tariff that is paid by the consumer mostly.

For Revenue Only.

"Believing, as we do, that the right of taxation is a government right; that it can not be delegated to individuals, trusts, corporations or monopolies; believing, as we do, that the right to levy a tariff exists only for the purpose of running the government economically and efficiently administered, we presented the tariff question to the people. First, we reduced the tariff upon wool and clothes forty per cent. This was the one schedule that President Taft himself had said was too high. That it was only made possible by reason of the strength of the Wool trust in the East and the wool growers in the West, but he could not veto it because he would have to veto all the other fourteen schedules of the tariff bill

Passes It Up.

"This bill went to the senate, and though it was condemned by the opposition party, we found sufficient assistance from the ranks of our opposition to pass it up to the president

"The president returned it to congress with his veto, and assigned as his reason that the tariff board had not reported and that he was therefore uninformed upon the proposition. We undertook to pass this bill over his veto.

"In all the history of civilized governments, no party ever became so defient of the public will, or went so far as to say that all of the people

Praise for Taft.

"President Taft has the lone and singular distinction of being the only president in the life of this republic who ever vetoes bills cheapening clothing to the people, lumber to the masses, meat and bread to hungry mouths and free farming implements to the American farmer.

"Our legislation would have saved to the coming public $350,000,000 a year.

"The next bill we passed was the one reducing the tariff on cotton goods, which would have saved a many million dollars to our people. This too, met with the veto of the president. A bill taking off sugar giving to them free sugar and placing an excise tax on all incomes in excess of $5,000 was passed. This bill is now in the senate of the United States unacted upon. I believe in free sugar. It will save to every householder in this country two per cent. on every pound of sugar I believe in an excise tax and I deny that the people are well-to-do. Those who are rich, those who are so fortunate as to have thousands pouring in every year are unwilling to bear their part of the burden of taxation to sustain this mighty government of ours.

Purpose Is Delay.

"The platform adopted by one branch of the Republican party, endorsed the veto of President Taft, yet at the same time they had to recommend to revision of the tariff.

"The American people told in the tariff plank recently adopted in Chicago that they want a report from the tariff board before any legislation is attempted. This is a motion for continuance from a guilty client made by an expert criminal lawyer. It's sole purpose is delay They want to take the power lodged in the constitution and place it in the hands of a tariff board appointed by the president of the United States, whom he can dismiss at will, and upon the report of this board the American people must depend for relief.

As to the Tariff.

"A tariff board report was not thought necessary when the McKinley bill was passed; we heard nothing from the Republican party in favor of tariff board report when the Payne-Aldrich bill tariff was carried through congress amid the cheering of every trust and monopoly throughout the land. When does a demand for the report of a tariff board come to our ears? It's when the tariff has already been fixed so high that they know they will not be allowed to exist. Then we are told the tariff must report this great right of taxation must be taken out of the hands of the people and lodged in the hands of a board of five men and their report must be awaited.

"I believe in the rule of a people; I do not fear them. From their ranks has come every army that has fought for liberty in the history of the world. I am a progressive Democrat. In this age, the people command and the leader must obey.

Resolution Passes.

"We passed through the house a resolution submitting an amendment to the federal constitution, providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people. The senate had become the rock against which remedial legislation in the interest of the people had been wrecked. Wealth had made this body its last stand. Privilege was making it. We believe that the people ought to have the report to select their senators directly. Today the American people have before them this amendment to the federal constitution by the courage and support of Democracy.

"We then passed through congress a bill providing for publicity of campaign funds, before as well as well as after election, and denying to corporations the right to contribute to political parties at all.

"We submitted to the country an amendment to constitution providing for an income tax. Billions of wealth is escaping taxation for national purpose, and in keeping with our promise to the American people we have submitted this just amendment to the federal constitution.

Believes in Enforcement.

"I believe in the rigid enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. I would not proceed against these great monopolies in equity and when I found them guilty, tell them not to do so any more or to divide their army of pillage into separate marauding bands, but I would proceed against them under the criminal status and place upon them the felon's stripe. I do not believe that a monopoly can be reasonable, and I would no more give to a trust a right to monopoly than I would advise a tariff board to be reasonable. The trust must be destroyed. They have been fostered and encouraged by the Republicans. They have no vested right.

"We are opposed to big interests. There must be a big business, but we say that big business, like little, must obey the law.

"We would strike from these trusts every character of protection. We would write a tariff law strictly for revenue only and place the tax first upon the luxuries, then upon the commodities of life, and lastly I would place the burden of taxation upon the necessities of life

"These infant industries must be weaned. Infants they began, but are today mighty giants, who have coalesced their strength to drive skyward the cost of living and oppress the people.

"The Republican platform adopted at Chicago, upon the tariff and trust question is a puzzle absolutely meaningless to the American people, but they must rest assured that to this puzzle the trusts hold the key.

Situation of Farmers.

"Their financial plank shows great anxiety to make it easy for the farmer to borrow money. It seems that they recognize that their rule of this country for sixteen years has made it necessary for the farmers to obtain credit.

"The Democratic party never will consent that our finances shall be Aldrichized or controlled by the money trust, for they are yet inspired by the thought that 'Old Hickory' Jackson more than three-quarters of a century ago stood in front of the people's treasury and beat back these money changers. That spirit still lives in the heart of the American Democracy.

"President Taft did not take time to carry out, but he kicked out the Roosevelt policies. The progressive spirit that sweeps this country now is called by some the principles of the progressives, by others the doctrines of the insurgents, but back yonder when a voice in the wilderness cried out for them, they were called the vagaries of Bryan, the dreamer.

"However much we may differ in national conventions upon minor questions, all just men must admit that the one living American whose name will shine in history studded by a dozen flaming stars long beside that of Jefferson and Jackson, is that of William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska.

Treatment of Old Soldiers.

"The Democratic congress not only scotched Cannonism, but it killed it. They said we were unfriendly to the soldiers of the union army, that in our camps the fires of the civil war still burned, that, if given control, we would be neither just nor generous to these veteran heroes of the civil war. But behold the record of the Democratic congress still in session. It remained for us to give the most liberal pensions to these deserving men in their declining years that their old age might be made serene and bright.

"They charged we would be unjust to them, now they say we were too generous. Nearly a half century after the war had closed, it remains for a Democratic federal general to father the bill that did even-handed justice to the federal soldiers. The war is over, and that flag, the brightest, dearest colors ever knit together in a banner of the free, waves above a united people, where it is loved by every heart and defended by every hand. And coming from the South, as I do, I can say that if Abraham Lincoln were alive this night, there is not a foot of soil under Dixie's sky upon which he might not pitch his tent and pillow his head upon a confederate soldier's knee and sleep in safety there."

FORTY-SEVEN LITTLE ONES GIVEN A TREAT

Journey Over Many Miles in Automobiles Thursday.

CHILDREN REACH HOME TIRED BUT VERY HAPPY

The Third Annual Outing for the Inmates of the Waddel Children's Home—The Outing Is Provided by Generous-Hearted Citizens—A Surplus for Next Outing.

Tired but happy, the forty-seven inmates of the Waddel Children's home, their ages ranging from three to fourteen years, arrived at the home from their day's outing, Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. It had been a day crammed full of joy, not only for the children, but for the grownups who accompanied them on this, the third annual outing given by generous-hearted citizens.

Mayor Claude D. Walters and Charles H. Conley, who were the principal promoters or this year's outing, have about $30 left. This will be placed in a fund to be used next year. In the near future steps will be taken to organize a permanent Children's Home Outing association.

Going to Magnetic Springs, Union county, the children were taken in automobiles by way of Waldo, Prospect and Richwood. Returning they came by way of Delaware, where they saw the pictures at the Grand theater, as the guests of Frank Hutchinson, the proprietor. From the little theater the children went to an ice-cream parlor, where each enjoyed a big dish of cream. Each was given a sack of candy, too.

The trip home from Eagle park at Magnetic Springs was started about 3:30 o'clock. Dinner was enjoyed at Eagle park. The children romped in the beautiful park for several hours.

"It was a day never to be forgotten," declared Superintendent William F. Hurr, of the Waddel Children's home, Friday morning. "And you might tell the people that it was the first time in the history of the home that every child in it was able to go. The home was deserted."

The children were in charge of Superintendent and Mrs. Hurr, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hurr and the governesses, Mrs. Minnie Hetter, Miss Elva McConahey, Miss Sarah Livingstone, Miss Leona Harriman, Miss Vina Roush and Miss Olga Roush.

Hiram Foos was one of the automobile owners donating his machine for the trip, in addition to the list published in Thursday's Star.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOLS GIVE FINE CARNIVAL

The Affair Is a Success in Spite of the Rain.

MANY DIVERSIONS PROVIDED FOR PATRONS

The Attendance Is Large—Sales Are Made from Booths Placed About the School Grounds Which Are Prettily Decorated and Lighted—Affair for Benefit of Schools.

The rain interfered considerably with the carnival given by St. Mary's parochial schools on the school grounds, Thursday evening. Up until 9 o'clock, however, a splendid evening of enjoyment with diversions of various sorts was enjoyed.

The attendance was large during the early evening, and while the schools will not realize so much as anticipated, the benefits will be very good. The grounds were well lighted and were handsomely decorated with flags, colors and decorations of various sorts. A number of booths were arranged about the grounds. Boxes of candy, ice-cream, cigars and the like were sold. Tables were arranged in the center of the grounds where the patrons were served ice-cream and a light lunch. During the evening the big doll on exhibition in the uptown district was given away. One of the features was "Ye Old Fish Pond," where the young people were afforded a great deal of amusement in fishing for prizes of many kinds.

All of the diversions of the evening were interesting and as a whole in spite of the rain the carnival was a success.

CLINTON HAVILL NOW IN NAVAL ACADEMY

Is Admitted to Academy at Annapolis Thursday.

Clinton Havill, a graduate of the Marion High school of the class of 1911, entered the naval academy at Annapolis, Thursday. Young Havill secured his appointment through Senator Burton.

A year ago Havill passed the mental examination and was appointed an alternate. The young man preceding him received the appointment, however, passing in both the mental and physical examinations. This year Havill was again appointed an alternate. The principal failed in his examinations, and Havill took the physical examination, and passed, securing the appointment which admitted him to the academy, Thursday.

Mr. Havill has always been a studious young man and his great ambition has been to secure an education such as he will receive in the naval academy. He is a son of E. E. Havill, formerly of this city, and is a brother of Misses Jessie and Ada Havill. His many friends here will be pleased to learn of his appointment.

DECORATOR ARRIVES IN CITY TO BEGIN WORK

Is Employed To Decorate Streets for Big Carnival.

WILL MAKE STREETS HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE

The Promoters of the Affair Offer Contradiction to Some Rumors in Circulation and Say the Carnival Will Be a Credit to the City—The Plans of the Promoters.

Center and Main streets through the city's business portion are to be converted into huge streamers of pennants and flags for the big street carnival and home-coming festivities the week of July 4.

The decorations will be made by Edward H. Shatzel, of Buffalo, New York, a professional decorator, who arrived in the city Friday afternoon, and assumed charge of the work.

The trolley wire supports are to be festooned with flags and pennants, the officials of the street railway company having granted the carnival promoters this privilege.

"I'll make these streets look gay and pretty with colors," said Decorator Shatzel Saturday. He is employed by the Order of Moose, under the auspices of which the affair is to be given.

The promoters say that, notwithstanding repeated declarations by them no immoral amusements will be tolerated, rumors are persistent that this will be permitted.

"I wish to say, and I want the public to understand that, even were the authorities to countenance immorality, the Order of Moose would not think of such a thing," said one of the promoters. "We want a good clean street carnival that every man, woman and child will enjoy, and one that will be long remembered, not only for its attractions in the way of clean amusements, but for its joyous home-coming features."

Following a band concert at Garfield park, Sunday afternoon and evening, June 30, the carnival will be opened Monday and continue all week.

YOUNG MAN IS DEAD WHEN BODY RECOVERED

J. C. Emmons Makes Statement as to Drowning.

J. C Emmons, a brother-in-law of the late Frank L. Ford, who was drowned in the Tymochtee, last Sunday afternoon, state that the unfortunate youth was dead at the time his companions worked over him; that he died in the water and hence their efforts at resuscitation were vain He says:

"The companions of the deceased, who were with him, possessed a thorough knowledge of how to proceed in such an emergency, and proceeded in a scientific way in their attempt to resuscitate their companion. They did all that was possible for any one to do.

"Frank D Ford and his friend, Everett Rubins, had motored to Marseilles, Saturday evening, returning to the Rubins home, where he remained until Sunday, when they drove to Mecker.

"There may have been ducks in the stream at this time, but as for them having anything to do with this unfortunate affair, we do not believe to be true Frank D. Ford and his companions went in bathing merely as a pastime.

"The statement that he died shortly after being rescued from the water' is untrue. All life had undoubtedly ceased before he was rescued from the water. At no time after being rescued, did the deceased show any signs of life, nevertheless his friends and companions worked courageously for ninety minutes trying to restore the vital spark of life, and we firmly believe that his friends and companions did everything in their power to rescue and revive the deceased."

ALBERT REIFF IS THE VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Riding Bicycle When Struck by an Auto.

Albert Reiff, of Elm street, suffered a deep cut over the right eye and other bruises in an accident on Church street near the Calvary Evangelical church, Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock. Reiff, who is about thirteen years of age, was riding his wheel, and was trying to avoid some of the bad places in the street, when an auto appraoched at a rate of about five miles an hour and collided with him. Those driving the machine appeared to be making an effort to avoid the bad places in the street, too, and the collision seemed unavoidable. While the auto did not pass over the body of the young man, it turned him over several times and dragged him a little distance. Reiff was taken to the home of Rev. E. L. Weatherwax, on south High street, and Dr. C. T. Wiant was summoned.

Monday afternoon, Attorney James H. Eymon was appointed by Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline, as special master commissioner to take an accounting of the property, real and personal, of the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railway company. This action by the court was taken as a sequel to the recent filing of a suit by the Troy Trust company, of Troy, New York, to foreclose an indenture of mortgage of $5,000,000.

Mr. Eymon as special master commissioner is also authorized to take an accounting of the road's franchises, and other privileges, covered by mortgage. He is directed to ascertain the amounts due and unpaid on the road's $500,000 bonded debt and report to the court by July 15, 1912.

Cause No. 12475 is the old suit of the Cincinnati Trust company for the appointment of receivers for the road. Cause No. 13369 is the suit brought by the Troy Trust company as trustee for the road's bondholders, and instituted proceedings in which they asked the Cincinnati company to make a full accounting.

PRIVATE FORTUNE OF PRINCE OF WALES IS WITHH ELD BY KING AND QUEEN

The fact that his parents have concluded to withhold his control of the $2,500,000, of which he became sole owner on his eighteenth birthday, Sunday, June 23, has caused the Prince of Wales to believe that he is being treated outrageously, and he is not the least bit careful as to who knows it. Ever since young Prince Edward heard of the decision of King George and Queen Mary, he has been in a continuous fit of sulks, and the cause is no secret in London or Paris, where the prince has been studying French for the last three months.

MONTHS IN GREAT SCHOOL

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for June 30 Is a Quarterly Review.

The value of a political campaign is that it educates the people to knowledge upon the great concerns of government. It quickens interest in national life and challenges all the old and taken-for-granted views. If we look upon the preaching of Jesus as His campaign, and His Sermon on the Mount as the platform of the party he was forming, we find that for three months past the Sunday-schools of the world have been discussing the issues which He put forward. In this presentation of the platform He laid down the laws that should govern His kingdom, that kingdom which is now conquering the earth, and which should be the supreme concern of the human mind. Every thoughtful person is called upon to face the utterances of this greatest of teachers and leaders. Not to know the Sermon on the Mount is more discreditable than not to know the Magna Charta, the writings of Shakespeare, or the latest bit of popular literature.

The Newness of an Old Issue.

Everything tends to petrify. The most sacred institutions and usages are in constant danger of deterioration from their original significance; the great phrases become cant; a man calls his wife "dear," meaning no more thereby than if he called her "Molly," though when first he breathed that word it was fraught with the tenderest significance, most fully realized A conspicuous instance of the ossification of institutions is the Sabbath day. Jesus was brought face to face with this, and He found Himself in the guise of a condemned Sabbath breaker.

The trouble arose from the substitution of regulations for spirit. The beneficent rest day, which Jehovah had designed for man's highest welfare, had become hedged about by ecclesiastical legislation, until most of its original purpose had been lost; it was a mere thing of rules to be feared and obeyed. Although the day was made for man, Jesus found that He was called a violator of the Sabbath when he sought to help the suffering or to feed the hungry. Therefore, with His characteristic courage, He challenged the old, outworn, traditional views and proclaimed the merciful mission of this day which God had set apart for highest uses.

The question of the Sabbath is a vital one in our time and civilization. Some of the same sort of ecclesiastical rigidity menaces the day Even more is it threateneded by a heedless, materialistic, short-sighted, selfish individualism, which would make the Lord's day like unto other days—or at least only a holiday, instead of a holy day. The spirit and teaching of Jesus on this moot point should be the study of good citizens, as well as of religious leaders.

Multiplying the Master.

Most of the vital personalities of the world have their followers and imitators. Great painters establish schools great scholars reproduce themselves in pupils Jesus was true to the tradition of all history when He undertook to multiply His personality by a group of disciples. His message to mankind must be carried by more lips than His own It was not enough that He should mingle with the crowd that thronged Him, and diffuse His ideas: He must have in training a school of apostles.

Thus the twelve were chosen a company of common men with opportunity to reveal the uncommon possibilities of the ordinary man. Diverse types of character were represented in those who went forth two by two upon the highest mission ever vouchsafed to mortal. The significance of the appointment of the twelve is many-sided, but first and foremost it carries the teaching that even the divine Son of God is dependent upon human agency for the extension of His kingdom in the world.

The New Teaching.

A current phrase in Japan is "dangerous doctrine." This euphemism covers all the radical views, from simple democracy to out-and-out anarchy, which are invading the old order They are thought to be dangerous because they have power to upset existing conceptions and institutions. Ideas are more powerful than dynamite. When Jesus called His friends to be the "salt of the earth" and the "light of the world," He equipped them with new conceptions of truth, and a gift for discerning truth.

So long has the world been under the spell of the teachings of Jesus that their radical nature, even to this day, is scarcely perceived. The Sermon on the Mount, the Master's inaugural address, was a succession of paradoxes. It reversed the old order and put first the things which had been esteemed as last and least.

Reversing the Common Order.

This marvellous deliverance, up to the level of which the world is but slowly climbing, turned upside down the accepted notions of the time. The Master pronounced as "blessed," not the rich and the powerful and the men of place and honor, but the poor the meek, the persecuted. His philosophy declared that the enviable men were not the conspicuous and wealthy and highly placed. His teaching aimed directly to show that a man's life consisted not in the abundance of things he possessed, but that it was measured solely by the state of his spirit

So He bade men to love their enemies, to seek to give rather than to receive, to turn the cheek in nonresistance to the hand that smites, and to rejoice over persecution and hardship Even more, He interpreted the law of Moses as meaning that the real sin was less in the deed than in the thought that prompted the deed, and that a heart of hatred was as criminal as an act of murder

Simpleness, truthfulness, self-denial, lowliness of heart, lavish spending of love, forgiveness of enemies—these were the road to perfection which is like unto the Divine perfection, as pointed out by Christ

That philosophy has stood the test of the centuries and now in our day seems to be coming to a full acceptance. When great teachers like Tolstoi rise up and undertake to put into actual practice the Sermon on the Mount, they are not hailed as madmen, but accepted as interpreters of the law of Jesus This philosophy, uttered on the slopes of Galilee two thousand years ago, is the ruling philosophy of earth today

All through this long address Jesus scintillated brilliant and scorching flashes of arraignment of the professional religious leaders of His time Today we would call a man who so spoke an "insurgent" Jesus hated all shams, and he despised the ecclesiastical leaders who used their religion as a cloak for self-seeking He bade all who would follow Him to have a righteousness that exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and the pharisees. Again and again He heaped up His contempt upon the hypocritical pretenses of men who trusted to their preeminence and vaunting virtue for their reward.

It was common then— and the same notion persists in modified guise—for men who wanted to be counted religious to do their alms in the sight of all men, and to pray on the street corner, and to take the chief places in the synagogues. Their religion was a religion of show. They despised the poor and the sinful. It seemed as if the vocabulary of Jesus was scarcely adequate to express His loathing for this selfish, sinful caricature of the life of holiness which His Father had prescribed for mankind. He did not hesitate to point to the public woman, whom the pharisee despised, as more worthy than the self-righteous aristocrat.

Standing Up for a Servant.

One other striking incident occurs in the quarter's lesson, that of the testimony of Jesus to John the Baptist. Men and Religion workers have frequently pointed out the fearless and outspoken loyalty of the campaign leader, Fred B. Smith, to all his associates. Let anybody criticise one of the team men, and Smith would be to the fore with an unhesitating, unqualified endorsement of that man. That is a Christlike trait Jesus never went back on a friend.

After John the Baptist had decreased and Christ had increased, the prophet in prison wondered whether things were really coming out as he had expected. He sent friends to inquire. Then followed that superb testimony to the brave prophet of the wilderness, that "Among them that are born of women there hath not arisen a greater than John the Baptist" Jesus failed not one whit in honoring the man who had gone before Him.

The example is a good one for the times. In our zeal for the new, and in our adoi in prosecution of modern reforms and developments, let us not forget the old. Every form of progress today is the outworking of earlier ideals and activities Others have labored and we are entering into their labors. Our present privileges are an inheritance from those who perhaps did not live to see their day What there is of good now is but the summation all that went before. As we talk of the uniqueness of this day of social instinct, and of the rapid spread of altruistic ideals, let us not forget the brave souls who held to these ideals through doubt and discouragement Above all, be it remembered that what we know today of a coming kingdom of man's good and God's glory is but the fruition of the teachings given to the uncomprehending multitudes by Jesus 2,000 years ago.

THE ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS PAY TRIBUTE

Memorial Services Held at Wesley Church.

THE ATTENDANCE IS EXTREMELY LARGE

Rev. D. N. Kelly, the Pastor of the Church, Delivers the Memorial Address Following a Brief Program—The Services Are Found Very Impressive.

Painting vivid word pictures of the negative and positive side of life, and dwelling upon the effect of the personal touch in bringing cheer, love and help to those in need, Rev. D. N. Kelly, of the Wesley M. E. church, Sunday morning, delivered the annual memorial sermon to the local lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

The church was filled to its capacity and special music was furnished by the choir and orchestra, after which the program was rendered.

Rev. H. H. Holverstott pronouncing the invocation, and W. C. Luellen and F. C. Bacon read the names of the departed.

Rev. Mr. Kelly took for his subject, "The Shibboleth of This Age," selecting his text from Genesis 13:8, "Let there be no strife between me and thee, for we are brethren." Rev. Mr. Kelly said in part:

"The race was in its infancy. The world was large, and thinly populated. Everybody had all the room desired. The text brings up new conditions. Abram and Lot were living on the broad fertile fields between Bethel and Ai. Their possessions had increased so rapidly that trouble arose between their herdsmen. Rather than to live with curtailed privileges, they decided to separate. The first step in civilization was when people began to learn to live in peace together.

"There is a threefold brotherhood. Brotherhood by birth or natural brotherhood, and that by obligation, or fraternal; and that which results from the new birth, or spiritual brotherhood. A failure to keep in mind that distinction has caused much confusion.

"The text starts the negative side of fraternalism. 'Let there be no strife.' Eight of the ten commandments are negative. Life at its beginning was negative. The laws of the nation are negative. But this is only one stage in human progress. A life of negations is a remnant of paganism.

"Doing good by proxy is a negative life. Much of the so-called charitable work of today loses in effectiveness because it lacks the personal touch. This negative life always expects gain from whatever good it may do. There is no doubt but that there is always a reaction and one will reap what he sows.

"The call for this age is a positive fraternalism. It has taken a ceaseless effort to bring the world up to this standard. The world was built on the great fundamental fact of law. It passed on to the next great era of liberty.

"There are several prominent traits of brotherhood. We would mention first the inducement to attain the highest personal standard of life. What I am is of more importance than what I do. If I am what I should be, I will do what I ought to do. This standard attained would correct many, yes, all of the evils that exist today. Class distinction would be eliminated.

"There is a broad field for active service. There is a work for all. Some tasks judged by human standards may be trifling yet in the estimation of the Great Judge all legitimate tasks are worthy.

"There are at least two phases of fraternal activity. Caring for the homeless and needy. In all charitable work, safeguard it as carefully as it is possible, there will be some unwisely bestowed. Under the direction of the lodge this may be reduced to the minimum. The lodge is not a secret society, but as Webster said, it is a society with a few secrets. And by means of these few secrets, it is able to protect itself from those who would impose upon it. The world in general does not know how much good is being done. The papers with glaring lines pictures the crime that is everywhere evident. Occasionally it mentions a man who gives a million to endow a school or build a library, but there is no mention of those who go to homes where sorrow has come, and who bury the dead and care for the fatherless and widow.

"There is a desire on the part of all to be remembered. It is a fearful thought to be forgotten. However, the heart is cheered when assured that the life will not be forgotten. Passing through a cemetery on a memorial occasion one lonely grave was found with no marble shaft upon which to place the name, one little flower was laid upon the grave indicating that the one sleeping there had a friend.

"Such a life as this will always react in good to ones self. These lodges as represented here today, have a prominent part in this work. Friendship and truth, bound together by love shall help to hasten the brotherhood of man.

"Love thou art mighty. This world is a scene of change. But thou canst strew life's thorny path with flowers. The loved ones smile when all around looks dark. Love shines brightest in life's darkest hours."

PARKER WINS CHAIRMANSHIP

New Yorker's Election Made Unanimous.

HE DEFEATS BRYAN IN WARM CONTEST

Continuous Uproar Marks the Convention's Course.

The Newly-Elected Chairman Is Escorted to Platform Amid Wild Cheering from Empire State Delegates—He Delivers the Keynote Speech and Then Convention Adjourns Until Tonight.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 25.—After a bitter fight in which William Jennings Bryan himself assumed the leadership of the progressives and became a candidate for the office, Judge Alton B. Parker was elected temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention this afternoon. The fight was so bitter, during most of the time, that the speakers were hardly heard, and the roll call was accomplished only after more than an hour of uproar and confusion.

At the close of the fight, a motion that Judge Parker's election be made unanimous was declared carried.

Parker was escorted to the stand and began to speak.

As Parker began speaking the visitors filed out of the galleries rapidly. Within ten minutes after the chairmanship fight had been announced, half of the visitors in the galleries had departed, and many of those on the main floor had also gone.

Judge Parker was forced to suspend until the hubdub was over.

It became necessary for the chair to suspend the speech after the first paragraph until order could be restored.

As he came to the stand, Chairman Mack held out his hand.

Judge Parker took it for a hearty shake, and then squared himself for the keynote speech.

Fitzgerald, of New York, moved that the convention adjourn until 8 o'clock tonight, and the motion was carried over the protests of a number of delegates.

Roll Ordered Called.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 25.—When the roll was called on the temporary chairmanship fight, and Alabama had voted solid for Parker, objection was raised and a poll demanded.

Governor O'Neil, of Alabama, was on his feet in an instant, denying that the candidacy of Mr. Underwood was in any way connected with the question of the election of Judge Parker for the seat, and O'Neil threatened to appeal from the decision of the chair, when the chair called for the resolution of the state convention.

The chair decided that the unit rule did not apply. One and one-half votes from Alabama went for Bryan and the roll went on.

"Call the roll," demanded the Arizona delegates. "We want to see who was for Bryan and who votes for Wall street."

There came an interesting scene when Oklahoma was called. A tall figure, innocent of coat, stood in his chair and grasped the standard of his state. His long form, typical of the cowboy days of the West commanded in its slouchy attractiveness and abandon of all convention and held instant attention.

Oklahoma Challenged.

"I challenge the vote of Oklahoma," he drawled so all might hear. The speaker was W. H. Murray.

"Does your delegation vote as a unit?" demanded the clerk.

"We vote as a unit sep-a-rately," drawled Murray while the crowd roared.

The chair decided that the vote of Oklahoma was twenty for Bryan under the unit rule.

The coatless and dishevelled combatants kept up their fight. Murray called down a perspiring warrior behind him, and the convention passed the state while it settled its own troubles.

Murray did not like the idea. He stood high in his chair, clinging to the standard.

"Sit down," said an assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Stick to Post.

"You git out 'en the way," rejoined Murray, and he held his fighting top until he got all of his state voted for Bryan under the unit rule.

When the final vote was announced as Parker, 578; Bryan, 509½, Senator Lea said.

"Mr. Chairman: Inasmuch as Judge Parker has received a majority of the votes, I move that his election be made unanimous."

"No, no," came from many parts of the hall.

Nobody heard the motion put, but the chair declared it carried.

Chairman Mack named Senator Stone and Senator Lea and Judge Hudspeth, of New Jersey, to escort Judge Parker to the chair.

The Parker path was through cheering delegates, while the band played a martial air.

TAFT WILL URGE APPROPRIATIONS

Wants Militia To Have Money for July Maneuvers.

Washington, June 25.—President Taft will send to congress Thursday a special message urging in the most emphatic terms that the two appropriations in the army appropriation bill necessary for the militia maneuvers early next month, be passed immediately, apart from the other provisions of the bill. This message was sent to congress Monday but arrived after the house had adjourned. After stating the urgent need for the appropriations—1,350,000 for the militia and $375,500 for the regular troops—the president's message concludes.

"The immense importance of the training of the militia leads me again to urge most strongly that the two appropriations be made available on or before July 6, since unless the maneuvers can be definitely determined upon by that date, the plans for the encampment and maneuvers of a great portion of the organized militia of the United States will have to be totally abandoned."

Ground Is Broken.

Ground was broken for the new armory, at the corner of west Church street and Olney avenue, Tuesday. A representative of the Dayton Construction company, which has the contract for the erection of the building, arrived here and set the work in motion. Taken to Infirmary.

The woman, who is without a home, has been cared for at the Anson home since an accident, about six weeks ago, in which she fractured her hip.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING CELEBRATED AT CHURCH

Miss Ethel L. Bartram and Mr. Victor C. Bryant Married.

MAJOR SAMUEL WITHERS PERFORMS CEREMONY

The Central Christian Church Is Packed to Overflowing by Those Anxious To Witness the Service. A Number of Officers from a Distance Are in Attendance.

"Vic, if you love your bride, kiss her," declared Major Samuel Withers, of Pittsburgh, after publicly performing Marion's first Salvation Army hallelujah wedding ceremony before approximately 700 people in the Central Christian church on west Church street, Tuesday night about 9 o'clock.

And Victor Clark Bryant, local treasurer of the army, leaned down and planted a kiss on the lips of his little black-eyed bride, who was Miss Ethel L. Bartram, junior sergeant major. She didn't blush before all that crowd either. The audience applauded.

Approximately 800 tickets were sold for the event and the church was filled to overflowing. Many stood in the aisles throughout the long service.

Preceding the ceremony proper a hallelujah song service was held. Captain George, of Fostoria, who has a sweet tenor, pleased the crowd with several solos, as did Miss Lockin, also of Fostoria. Miss Lockin and Captain George sang in duet and captivated their hearers. A trio composed of Major Withers, of Pittsburgh; Staff Captain Widgery, of Cleveland, and Captain George, of Fostoria, rendered several selections.

Part of Service.

A part of the service was a collection, to which many contributed liberally. All the proceeds from the sale of tickets and the amount donated at the wedding will be used in the regular Salvation army work.

The wedding ceremony came as a fitting climax to the hallelujah service of sacred song and prayer. For a long time the bridal party had rehearsed in the church for this part of the service and there was no untoward incident to mar the ceremony. Of course, the bride and groom were a little nervous. That was to be expected. When Major Withers told them to join hands, the bride extended her left hand, evidently thinking the groom was then to place a ring upon her finger.

The Bridal Party.

Miss Anna Croman presided at the piano, playing Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party started from the rear of the church down the aisle to the floral-decorated arch on the rostrum. Major Withers and Staff Captain Widgery led the procession, followed by the little flower girls, who were Hester Nye, Ada Weaver, Nellie Myers and Frances Bartram. The bride followed with the groom's best man, Seth Johnson, and after them came the bridesmaid, Lieutenant Morgan, of Ashland, and the groom, Mr. Bryant. Their faces were radiant with happiness, and the audience restless with expectancy as the bridal party slowly marched to the rostrum. Major Withers was particularly in a jolly mood and, after the ceremony, good-naturedly "joshed" both the bride and groom, to the delight of the crowd.

Round of Testimonials.

Then followed a round of testimonials, Major Withers called on the happy groom first and he gave a talk that impressed his hearers as coming from a man of no false pretenses, of no hypocrisy. He said that the six years that he had been a resident of Marion were the happiest of his life, and he was cheered. The bride expressed her pleasure in a neat little speech that caught the fancy of her hearers. Others were called upon by Major Withers and the hallelujah wedding service was closed with songs of praise and prayer.

The bride and groom were fairly overwhelmed by those who sought to extend congratulations

Tuesday afternoon, in the basement of the church, the Salvation army gave a big supper for the bride and groom and their personal friends About 100 attended. Mayor Claude D Walters and his little daughter, Mary, being among the guests.

Both in the Work.

The bride is a daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles W Bartram, of Hamilton street, and has been engaged in Salvation army work several years It was while thus engaged that she met Mr Bryant, who has been deeply interested in the same work

Among the Salvation army workers present for the hallelujah wedding were Major Samuel Withers, of Pittsburgh Staff Captain Widgery, of Cleveland, Sergeant Major Davis of Columbus, Adjutant Parsons, of Lima; Captains Slack and Frochbrecht, of Fostoria, Mrs Emma Gerard, of Van Wert, whom the groom claims as his spiritual mother; Captain Ryan, of Mansfield, and Lieutenants Morgan and Zillmer, of Ashland

Following a short visit with relatives at Morral, Mr and Mrs. Bryant will make their future home in Cleveland, where both will be engaged in special Salvation army work.

SETTING GOOD EXAMPLE FOR THE OTHER YOUTHS

Students Not Content To Pass the Summer in Idleness.

Some of the Marion boys back from college, all of them sons of wealthy parents, are setting a healthy example to their fellow-youths instead of fritting away the summer in idleness, by putting in their vacations at hard work, and getting an insight into the real things of life.

Immediately upon his return from Georgetown university in Washington, Harold Prendergast secured a job in the yards of the Marion Lumber company and went to work. About the same time, Edward Huber, also a Georgetown university student, secured a job in the machine shop at the Marion Steam Shovel company.

And the best phase of the thing is that the boys went to work upon their own initiative, and their example is being followed by other youths, among them being Robert Schroeter, who is working in the Marion Steam Shovel shops

I'M ON MY WAY TO FRANK'S JUNE SALE.

Don't Stop Me

I'm on my way to Frank's to get a pair of hose that fit—and, say—I bought my last pair at Frank's and that's the kind they sell—and the prices!

25c White Hose, 19c

Better than you usually get for a quarter—and, say—they fit—the feet, they simply wear, wear, wear, and you simply want to go back and buy six pairs after you bought one—and just think—only 19c.

50c White Hose, 35c

And what do you think—it's imported—real imported, full-fashioned, sheer quality gauze lisle hose that makes you act and look the part of a nine-times winner—oh, say—you need't smile—you'll get serious about the beauty of this hose, too, if you wear a pair. And only 35c.

Silk Boot Hose

You know I just love to wear silk hose, but I hate to pay $1.00 to $2.00 a pair. I'd have to give up cream sodas if I did that. Well, don't you know those silk boot hose at Frank's look to others like silk all the way up, but they're not—the tops are lisle and they wear to beat the band—the price is only 50c—in black and white—say, it's a shame to deceive your friends like that isn't it? Drop in when you're up our way, Maud, and let me go. I'm on my way to Frank's. Good-bye.

RICHWOOD IN BAD FINANCIAL CHANNEL

No Money To Pay for the Public Utilities.

VILLAGE IN DEBT FOR STREET LIGHTING

Some Talk of an Issue of Bonds To Meet the Emergency—Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Baumgardner Lose Infant—Mr. and Mrs. John Woods Caught in Runaway.

Richwood, O., June 27.—[Special.]—The village of Richwood is at present facing the most financial crisis in her history. At a special meeting of the council, held in Mayor M. W. Hill's office, Friday evening, it was discovered that the service fund is totally depleted. It is impossible for the village to pay for the street lights during the month of June, now almost passed. There are also several other claims against this fund. The safety fund is in even worse condition than the service fund. The Richwood Banking company holds a certificate of indebtedness for $850 against the safety fund and the expenses of the town cannot be met. The police salaries and the expenses of the fire department come out of this fund. The general fund is indebted to The Richwood Banking company for $300 and is almost totally depleted. The banks now refuse to loan the corporation any more money on the general tax levy, as it will require from three to five years to get the finances in shape to repay the money, because of the limitations of the Smith one per cent. law The only thing that can be done to solve the difficulty is for the village to issue enough bonds to take up the certificates of indebtedness and to furnish the town money with which to pay its bills. To issue the bonds will require an election and a two-thirds vote of the people The school fund is almost exhausted and the board of education is trying hard to find a way out of its difficulties.

MRS. CHARLES E. VIGOR IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Charges Violations of the Marital Contract.

WANTS A PROPER ALIMONY ALLOWANCE

A Motion for a New Trial in the Matter of Elmer C. Howard Against the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Company—Notes of Common Pleas Court.

Jennie Vigor, through Attorney H. Edmond Hill, Thursday morning, brought an action for divorce from Charles E. Vigor, an alleged wife-beater. She says her husband frequently struck and otherwise abused her. Finally, she says, she was forced to leave him on account of his cruelty in March, 1911. Since then the husband has been paying her two dollars a week for the support of their two-year-old child. She asks a divorce, custody of their child, and alimony "commensurate with his earnings"

Vigor is employed by the Marion Steam Shovel company and makes three dollars a day.

A motion for a new trial has been filed by the defendant in the damage suit of Elmer C Howard against the Fairbanks Steam Shovel company. A jury in the court of common pleas, Tuesday, returned a verdict of $500 in favor of Howard, who was injured in 1910, when employed by the defendant company.

In the suit of the Cantwell Hardware company, of Kenton, against Oscar J Lusch, the answer of Hugh Kelly, a bankrupt, has been filed by Mouser & Moloney, of this city, and Attorney C W Faulkner, of Kenton. In the divorce matter of Charles L. Justice against Nellie R. Justice, Judge Daniel Babst, of Crestline, late Wednesday afternoon, granted a degree of divorce to the plaintiff, finding the allegations of petition to be true.

The defendant is barred of dower and all right to property of the plaintiff. On application of the defendant, she is restored to her former name, Nellie Reed

VERNON C. BANHOF IN CRAWFORD COUNTY JAIL

Will Be Taken Back to Virginia for Horse Stealing.

CONFESSES TO THEFT AFTER REACHING JAIL

Young Man Steals Horse and Buggy and Colt Automatic Revolver. Bucyrus Police Chief Acts Promptly and Captures His Man Without Trouble.

Vernon C. Banhof, aged nineteen, is tonight reclining peacefully in the Crawford county jail awaiting extradition papers that will take him back to Virginia on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy valued at $225 from J. W. Schaefer living near Yale, Virginia.

Schaefer had employed Banhof on his farm for the past month and, June 23, Banhof left, taking a horse and buggy valued at $225, a colt automatic revolver valued at $32, money and checks.

Wednesday morning chief of police Trautman, received a letter from J W Schaefer giving a description of the man, and where he had told him he resided in Crawford county. Through detective work the chief found that a man had been seen walking down the road toward the residence given, early Thursday morning, with a grip similar to the one described in Schaefer's letter.

Automobile Did It.

The chief immediately requisitioned an automobile and loading it with Sheriff Soly Crum, Patrolmen Sharp and Kennedy and himself with Charley Roberts at the wheel sped to a point south of New Winchester and found the residence.

Knocking at the door a winsome lass of twenty-one opened it and in his best manner the chief asked if Vernon was at home. "Yes," said the girl, "he is out to the barn." Out to the barn they went and got the young man who immediately denied that he was the party wanted, and said that it was the boy on the next farm. He was searched and the revolver found on his person He was brought to Bucyrus and lodged in the jail to await extradition papers which Schaefer says he will send on receipt of a telegram of the arrest.

Later when in the county jail Banhof, confessed to the crime and stated that he had disposed of the horse and buggy in Waverly, Virginia.

For the use of dentists and barbers there has been invented a metal holder for tumblers, with which water may be heated by electricity to any desired temperature.
